

ATLANTA HOME
LOOTED BY AID OF CHLOROFORM

C. H. Stewart, His Wife, His Mother and His Sister Are Victims of Un-usual Robbery.

DRUG IS EVIDENT
AS POLICE APPEAR

Several Other Robbery Cases Reported—Grocery Store on Richardson Street Is Entered.

Four persons were rendered unconscious early Sunday morning by a chloroform burglar, the first case of its kind reported in Atlanta within the past year.

W. H. Stewart, of 12 Woodbine street, well known furniture dealer, his wife, his mother, Mrs. W. H. Stewart, and his sister, Mrs. Emma Pannell, of Social Circle, awoke early Sunday morning to find the house robbed and strong odors of chloroform in the house.

Awakes Dazed.

Mr. Stewart awoke first about 4:30 o'clock. He was dazed and had difficulty in recovering consciousness. He called Detectives J. C. Mosely and T. J. Harrison, who investigated. He awakened other members of the family and it was found the house had been ransacked and the burglars had obtained $20 in cash.

A physician was called and members of the household were given first aid treatment. Mrs. Pannell, who was visiting in the house, was affected most. Mr. Stewart's mother was recuperating from a recent illness.

When officers arrived the odor of the drug could be detected in the house. A thorough search of the premises was made but officers failed to find a trace leading to the identity of the burglars.

Burglaries Reported.

Several minor burglaries and thefts were reported to police Sunday. Fresh meats and groceries were stolen from the grocery store of Mrs. Bessie Bell, of 65 Richardson street. The burglars entered the building through a side window.

Effie Green's drink stand at 207 Auburn avenue, was entered and the gas meter robbed of about $6 in quarters. The burglars also helped themselves to sandwiches, drinks and other edibles.

A tan suit case containing several articles of clothing was stolen from an automobile owned by A. L. McDonald, of Chattahoochee. The automobile was parked on Forsyth street near Luckie street.

Attorney Joseph E. Behrman, with offices at 213 Fourth National Bank building, reported that his automobile license tag was stolen from his machine while it was parked on Decatur street.

Tent Church
Is Destroyed
By High Wind

Plans Are Being Made To Repair Whiteford Ave. Baptist Damage.

The new Whiteford Avenue Baptist tent church was destroyed by the high wind which swept over Atlanta early Sunday morning. The piano, which recently was installed was ruined.

The tent was erected only a few weeks ago for services at the newly organized church and plans were under way to build a permanent church at Whiteford avenue and Meridian street. In addition to damages done to the tent and piano, the benches were blown about and broken. The loss will amount to several hundred dollars.

Services Sunday night were held at the home of Mrs. Mary Allen, of 279 South Whiteford avenue. Ordination of the pastor, the Rev. C. H. Adolphus, was held last Sunday. Contributions for the new church building fund may be sent to Mr. Adolphus at 506 Crew street.

LIFE IS LENGTHENED
10 PER CENT IN U. S.
IN LAST TEN YEARS

Newark, N. J., October 25.—Human life has been lengthened in America during the past decade by approximately 10 per cent, with an increase reflected at all ages from 10 to 80, according to the statistics made public by the Prudential Life Insurance company.

In 1914 a child 10 years old had a life expectancy of 48.8 years, or a prospect of living until he had reached 58.8 years. In 1924, ten years later, this expectation of life had increased to 53.5, giving him a prospect of lasting until the age of 63.5. A man of 80 in 1914 had but 4.7 years as his expectation of life, while 10 years later a man of similar age had an expectation of 5.1 years.

Seven of Derelict Sea-planes Totally Wrecked When Violent Wind Scatters Ships on Beach.

HOPE OTHER TEN

Planes Torn From 500-Pound Anchors To Which They Were Moored in Bay.

Baltimore, October 25.—(AP)—Seven of 23 United States navy seaplanes, here for a navy pageant tomorrow, broke from their moorings near Solers Point in a 75-mile gale today and were strewn along a five-mile stretch of beach tonight. Another plane, moored off Bay Shore Park, tore free and disappeared.

Seven of the derelict planes were total wrecks when found. Hopes were held out that the other 10 might be partially salvaged.

Six Planes Available.

Commander T. G. Ellison, in charge of the squadron, said only the six which held their anchors would be able to take part in the pageant, which is scheduled to precede the Schneider cup race at Bay Shore Park.

Two of three pursuit planes moored at Bay Shore Park rode out the storm and were safe tonight. No report had been received regarding the whereabouts of the third. It pitched out of sight on the bay, riding a high running sea.

Planes Unoccupied.

None of the planes were occupied during the gale. They were moored with 500-pound anchors and tore from their moorings one by one.

All of the planes at Solers Point that escaped eventually were deposited on the beach. At Bay Shore Park there were no boats of sufficient speed or seaworthiness to pursue the plane which tore free there. Boats from the U. S. S. Shawmut, moored here for the Schneider races, were rounding up the planes tonight.

The storm which swept the seaplane fleet made itself felt also in the city of Baltimore, where a 10-year-old boy was killed by a falling tree, another child and an aged man and woman were injured by wind-driven debris, roofs of small buildings were carried off and plate glass windows blown in.

NATIONALISTS QUIT
GERMAN CABINET

Resignations Due to Dissatisfaction With Peace Pacts of Locarno—Luther Will Carry On.

Berlin, October 25.—(AP)—The nationalist members of the German cabinet resigned today. They are Herr Schiele, minister of the interior; Dr. Von Schleier, minister of finance, and Dr. Albert Neugaus, minister of economics.

Neither cabinet nor a parliamentary crisis is expected to follow the resignation of the ministers. The situation tonight indicated that Chancellor Luther will fill the vacancies with non-partisan ministers, then appear before the reichstag for ratification of the security pact and arbitration treaties initiated at Locarno.

On Friday the governing board of the German nationalist party passed a resolution that the results of the Locarno security conference were not acceptable. This was looked upon as foreshadowing the retirement of the nationalist members of the cabinet.

A meeting of the nationalist party members of the reichstag was held today, but it was attended by only about 50 of the 111 members. A resolution was adopted, unanimously approving the decision of the three ministers to resign. This action by a section of the parliamentary group of the nationalists is taken as evidence that the reactionaries are united on the question of accepting or rejecting the Locarno agreements.

Political circles close to Dr. Stresemann, the foreign minister, declare that Chancellor Luther is determined to continue the peace program inaugurated at Locarno and that a crisis has not arisen. The chancellor believes he is assured the necessary vote in the reichstag to ratify the pact and the treaties with the aid of the three middle parties and the socialists, whose combined votes are sufficient to yield a strong majority.

Two Men in Car Near Monroe Shot by Black When They Refuse Him Ride—Eludes Officers.

WATCH CHAIN STOPS
FORCE OF BULLET

When Officers Search House Harboring Negro, He Opens Fire, Mortally Wounding Deputy.

Monroe, Ga., October 25.—(Special)—Deputy Sheriff J. M. Riley and David Sorrells are at the Monroe hospital dangerously wounded; Cal Doster, of Campton, is suffering from a wound in the thigh and City Policeman Louis Malcom escaped with slight injury when a bullet embedded itself in his watch chain, as a result of a negro desperado, Jim Ellis, running amuck near here Saturday night.

The first shooting occurred about one mile above Monroe at 10 o'clock Saturday night. Doster, Sorrells and Jimmie Sims were in an automobile returning from Monroe to their homes near Campton, when they were hailed by Ellis and asked for a ride. The men passed on without acceding to the negro's request and some few minutes later were compelled to stop the car to repair a puncture. While they were halted the negro overtook them, and one of the men recognizing Ellis, spoke to him and told him to get in the car and ride.

Approached Cursing.

It is claimed that the negro approached them, cursing, and that he whipped out a pistol and fired several bullets, one of them entering Sorrells' abdomen and puncturing his liver and another striking Doster in the thigh. The negro escaped and the two wounded men were brought to Monroe and carried to the city hospital for attention.

Shortly after the shooting Deputy Sheriff Riley, Coffey Baliff Rufus Robison, City Officers Louis Malcom and Ernest Moon and B. B. Hand went in search of the negro. About 6 o'clock Sunday morning they approached a negro house near Monroe where they had reason to believe that Ellis was hiding. Warren Cooper, occupant of the house, denied that Ellis was there, but Sheriff Riley told him he would go in and take a look, anyway, and walked in with Officer Malcom, while the other men surrounded the house.

Immediately the officers crossed the threshold Ellis' pistol began to bark and in a few moments Sheriff Riley staggered into Malcom's arms badly wounded. A glancing shot grazed Malcom's stomach, the ball embedding itself in his watch chain. Ellis emptied his pistol, reloaded and emptied it again. Then making a dash for a rear window and going through the sash, he escaped in the darkness, bareheaded and barefooted.

Several shots were fired at him by the officers, but as far as known he was not hit.

As the posse had only one automobile and Sheriff Riley's condition

Playful Bear
Sends Joiner
To Hospital

Sticks Hand in Cage and Gets Bite and Whisky Cure As Reward.

Two unusual cases were treated at Grady hospital Sunday—one the result of a yawn, and the other of a bear bite.

Ed Joiner, 54, of Lithia Springs, was taken to Grady Sunday afternoon for treatment after he had been bitten by a bear on exhibit in front of a local theater.

Joiner was walking on Peachtree street and stopped to view the exhibit. When he thrust his hand into the cage the playful bear bit two of his fingers. The injury was not serious.

Fearing that the bite might cause an infection his treatment at the hospital took the form of a big dose of whisky. He became intoxicated as a result, it is said, and was removed to police station where he was held as a "sleeper." No charge was preferred against him.

Mrs. L. G. Smith, 28, of 25 Rhodes avenue, ordered herself of a dislocation of the jaw Sunday afternoon soon after she was taken to Grady hospital for treatment. Mrs. Smith told physicians that she had dislocated the jaw when she yawned.

An X-ray picture was taken to determine the injury and the kind of treatment necessary and soon after taking the picture Mrs. Smith opened her mouth and her jaw came back into place.

PARIS CABINET
VERY PROBABLY TO FALL TODAY

Radical Members To Demand Resignation of Government in Order to Oust Joseph Caillaux.

FINANCE MINISTER
DEFIES COLLEAGUES

Defends His Financial and Debt Policies and Attacks Proposal for Capital Levy.

Paris, October 25.—(Resignation of the French cabinet is likely Monday as a result of internal dissension regarding solution of the problem of French finance.

It is learned authoritatively that several radical members of the cabinet will demand, when the cabinet meets Monday, that the entire government resign in order to get rid of Joseph Caillaux, minister of finance. The radicals have been eager to shelve Caillaux and his speech Sunday at Chateau Du Loir, France, denouncing a capital levy and hinting further inflation has moved them to further efforts.

With the cabinet discord which is confirmed by Caillaux's speech, it is impossible to forecast what will happen, but the situation seems to indicate a resignation Monday.

CAILLAUX DEFIES
CABINET COLLEAGUES.

Chateau Du Loir, France, October 25.—Joseph Caillaux has defied his cabinet colleagues in a dramatic speech which is regarded as a fighting farewell to his present position of power as minister of finance.

Parading the desperate position of French finance before his constituents of the Senate, Caillaux denounced the expedient of a capital levy to prevent national bankruptcy, inferentially committed himself to further inflation, and declared his confidence that "it will not be many months" before agreement on the French debt to the United States is reached.

Defends Finance Policies.

Caillaux's address was chiefly a general defense of his financial policies and of his recent failure to settle the debt in Washington, but throughout ran a strain of reconciliation to imminent removal from the cabinet.

Three important points were made in relation to the politico-financial situation:

1. An intimation that Caillaux's financial projects contain some form of inflation, to which the remainder of the cabinet is reported to be opposed.

2. Two unimposing statements that he opposes the socialist financial program.

3. Unequivocal opposition to a capital levy, despite the insistence of eight radical members of the cabinet for such a measure.

Cabinet Crisis Seen.

While the cabinet situation has been delicate, there was some hope until Caillaux spoke Sunday that his words might repair the weakened structure, but it is believed now that the fate of the cabinet must be decided Monday, and that unless Caillaux, by the force of his appeal to public opinion, has put the others to flight, the cabinet will resign en masse if necessary to oust the minister of finance.

Caillaux estimated the interior French debt at the "astronomical" figure of 300,000,000,000 francs, or approximately $15,000,000,000. Then he mercilessly assailed the French

Steamship Companies Battle
To Carry Legion To Paris

FIVE FOREIGN LINES OFFER "WET" APPEAL

(United News Staff Correspondent.) Washington, October 25.—British and American steamship companies have begun a battle to determine whether the journey of American legionnaires to Paris in 1927 will be attended with hilarity no longer prolonged on dry American lines.

Five foreign lines, backed by the inducement to the passenger that their ships are "wet," are bidding against the United States lines, operated by the United States shipping board, for the job of transporting some 50,000 world war veterans planning to attend the Paris convention.

The decision as to what steamship company shall be patronized by the Americans largely rests with a special committee appointed by the national body. That the question will be settled shortly has been indicated by John J. Wicker, Jr., chairman, who has announced his intention of coming to Washington from his home in Richmond, Va., this week to thrash out the entire problem with T. V. O'Connor, chairman of the United States shipping board.

Meantime, the foreign lines are making a strong fight for the business, and according to delegates who attended the Omaha meeting, there is considerable sentiment among legionnaires in favor of overlooking the patriotic arguments put forward by the United States line.

In addition to the "wet" appeal, it is reported that the foreign bidders are offering lower rates than their American competitors. They also point to the fact that the American Bar association went to its London convention in a British vessel rather than on one of the ships sailing under the Stars and Stripes.

GRECO-BULGARIAN
WAR CONTINUING
AS LEAGUE MEETS

Council, Meeting in Paris Today, Determined "To Stand No Nonsense From Balkan States."

GREEKS BOMBARD
TWO BULGAR TOWNS

Athens Government Promises To Accept Decision That Is Rendered by League Council.

Paris, October 25.—(AP)—Fighting continued on the Bulgarian front today at the very moment members of the League of Nations council were hastening to Paris for an extraordinary meeting calculated to extinguish the new Balkan flame.

From Sofia came word that two Bulgarian towns hitherto untouched—Piperitza and Petrovo—during the day had been subjected to a bombardment by Greek troops.

On the other hand, the aggression was not confined to the Greeks, if all reports are to be believed. An official Greek statement issued at Athens declared that the Bulgars had occupied territory in the neighborhood of Demirkawor, refusing to retire.

Condition of Retirement.

Admiral Hadjiliriakos, acting foreign minister, in a telegram to the secretariat of the league, promised that the Greek forces would retire "when the last Bulgarian soldier is withdrawn from Greek soil."

While contradictory statements are coming out of Sofia and Athens with consistent rapidity, the neighboring states display considerable alarm, and also a determination in no case to be drawn into the row. Rumania and Czechoslovakia both have announced their neutrality, and Belgrade has given the strictest orders to prevent invasion of its territory by the belligerents where the three states meet.

A new element was injected into the situation by the report that the Stambouliysky leaders, Athanasoff and Stojanoff, had arrived at the Bulgarian frontier at Zaribrod, with the intention of again collecting their hands to harass the government while its hands are full dealing with the Greeks.

Troops Sent to Front.

From Belgrade, it was reported that 15 trainloads of troops left Sofia yesterday for the front, and with them numerous bands of irregulars. Sofia, however, denies that there are any number of irregulars available and explains that only one band has gone forward, but instructed under no circumstances to open fire unless absolutely necessary.

An overwhelming peace impetus having been injected into Europe generally by the Locarno security agreements, the council of the league, which meets in Paris at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in special session, is determined, as league leaders said tonight, "to stand no nonsense from the Balkan states." Furthermore, the council intends to prevent new mili-

Three Tots
Drown as Car
Falls in River

Father, In Turning Automobile, Backs It Off Bank Into Swollen Stream.

Nashville, Tenn., October 25.—(AP)—Two small children were held today in a closed automobile at the bottom of Calf Killer river, and a third—a babe-in-arms—was wrenched from its mother's breast and drowned by the swollen waters, when John Henry Griffith accidentally backed his car into the stream one mile from the family home at Sparta, Tenn., about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Griffith is in a critical condition, suffering from exposure and grief because of the loss of her three children, who had not then been given up by the muddy river, which was flowing madly out of bank and defying divers.

Griffith also is said to be in a very serious condition, due to the loss of blood resulting from cuts suffered in an attempt to rescue the children.

The drowned children are aged 6 months, 4 years and 6 years.

Griffith, his wife and their three children were enjoying a Sunday afternoon drive in their closed car when, one mile from the city, they decided to turn around and head back towards home. In making the turn, Griffith accidentally backed too far, the car sliding over the muddy five-foot embankment into the swift stream, which is far out of bank.

In a heroic fight to save his family, Griffith was killed.

May Revolutionize Aviation

COMBINES PLANE BODY WITH FOUR "WINGS"

BY CHARLES M. McCANN. London, October 24.—The United States next year probably will see the autogiro, a semi-helicopter airplane, the invention of Don Juan De La Cierva, which has astonished British aero experts.

Cierva, a Spaniard, is hailed as the inventor of the greatest and most important heavier-than-air machine since the Wright brothers first flew. "It is too soon to say what my future plans will be, but it is not impossible that I will take my autogiro to America next year to demonstrate it to the American government and people," he told the United News.

An autogiro that can fly 300 miles an hour and be able to land at 40 miles an hour is easily possible to construct, Cierva said. His contrivance is known in Britain as the "flying windmill."

At a dinner which the Royal Aeroautical society gave in honor of Cierva, Sir Sefton Brackner, director of civil aviation, declared the autogiro was the most important step in air dynamics in many years.

The inventor read a paper which described his machine. It combines the body of an aeroplane with four "wings," which are attached to a mast rising from the plane body. The propeller is in front, and when it pulls the machine along the wind causes the wings to flap like a bird's. When descending with the motor off, the wind still causes the wings to flap a bit and the landing is made safely.

Don Cierva is the son of a former Spanish war minister. He has constructed 30 of the machines in experiments.

The British government may adopt the autogiro for military purposes.

YARAB TO CLOSE
CAMPAIGN TONIGHT

More Than 600 Shriners and Guests Will Gather at Ansley To Hear Final Reports.

Six hundred members of Yaarab temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., and their guests will gather at 6:30 o'clock tonight at the Ansley hotel for the closing dinner of the $1,000,000 campaign to raise funds for the erection of a new Shrine mosque and huge civic auditorium at Peachtree and Kimball streets.

The result of the campaign, which was launched at a dinner just two weeks ago, is still in doubt. More than $750,000 had been raised when the last reports were made on Friday noon, however, and campaign leaders feel confident that the goal will be reached tonight.

Workers Still Busy.

Team workers have been laboring industriously over this week-end to make their final report the largest they have yet turned in. Advance reports from campaign headquarters in the Ansley hotel indicate that success is probable. Several teams have told those in charge that they expect to make unusually large reports.

The fund will be boosted tonight by a large number of voluntary subscriptions from persons who do not belong to Yaarab temple.

Practically all of the teams have received pledges from non-Shriners. One was reported Sunday by Dr. C. E. Wilson, captain of team No. 10. It was made by C. J. Stone, a stone mason of this city residing at 449 Glenn street, who told Dr. Wilson that he was a Master Mason and a stone mason, and that if any buildings in any way connected with Masonry were going to be built in Atlanta he would be glad to help.

Rum Sleuth, Dying Suddenly Under Mysterious
Circumstances, Believed Bootleggers' Victim.

Chicago, October 25.—(AP)—James Asher, known as the "Lone Wolf" of the prohibition enforcement service here, died suddenly today under circumstances which led police and enforcement officials to suspect that he may have been poisoned by bootleggers, who he had continually harassed during his three years as a federal agent.

Edward C. Yellowley, prohibition administrator, who is aiding the coroner in an investigation of the death, said Asher had been threatened several times. A necropsy will be made and the vital organs examined for poison traces.

Complaints of Headache.

About 8 o'clock this morning, Asher complained to his wife, Mary, that his head ached. A little later, after a hot bath, he went to bed, saying he thought he was dying. A physician at his hotel managed to keep him here for an hour and a half. He pronounced death was due immediately to cerebral hemorrhage.

Administrator Yellowley, summoned at once, was the first to advance the poisoning theory. Asher was associated with him in the east for some time before the agent came here. During the last few weeks Asher has been working as an "under cover" man, and it was upon his complaints and warrants that several federal injunctions were issued. One of the injunctions closed the place owned by a man known as "Sawed Off," who thus signed an "open letter" recently to President Coolidge, defying him to enforce the dry law.

Asher gained considerable notice when he cleaned up Peoria, which was called by prohibition officials the wettest town in Illinois. After raids there, conducted by out-of-town agents under Asher's direction, he was accused of ruthlessness and wanton destruction of property of saloons and soft-drink parlors.

Property Damage Near Troy, Alabama, Will Run Into Tens of Thousands of Dollars.

WOMAN, 105, IN LIST OF THOSE KILLED

Rescuers Work Frantically Amid Downpour of Rain and Vivid Flashes of Lightning.

New York, October 25.—(AP)—Two devastating windstorms struck the Atlantic coast tonight and today, resulting in at least 21 deaths and heavy damage to homes and shipping.

In Pike and Barbour counties Alabama, a tornado sweeping in from the Texas coast killed 16 persons, injured more than a score and leveled dozens of homes.

The second storm, roaring in from the Atlantic, passed from the Maryland and Delaware coasts through New York and into New England.

Two Fishermen Drowned.

Off Rockaway Point, N. Y., two fishermen were drowned and another fatality was reported from Woburn, Mass., where 500 houses were damaged and the town was thrown into darkness. National guardsmen were called out to protect property from looters.

Two hysterical women and 15 men, drenched by the waves beating over the sides of their vessels, were rescued by coast guard patrolmen of the Sandy Hook station, after being adrift for several hours on a string of 12 empty barges in the lower bay.

In Baltimore, 17 navy seaplanes, assembled for maneuvers in connection with the Schneider seaplane races, broke from their moorings. Seven of them were destroyed and the others damaged.

Expectant Mother Killed.

In New York, an expectant mother was pulled out of a window when the wind twisted a clothes line around her. She was killed and the child died after a Caesarian operation had been performed.

Trans-Atlantic liners were delayed by buffeting seas and smaller shipping along the coast was left in tangled confusion as the wind passed.

Philadelphia reported heavy damage and the injury of a number of

POULOS TO FACE MURDER CHARGE IN MONTGOMERY

Teddy Poulos, of Montgomery, Ala., Sunday night was lodged in Dalton county jail, after being arrested in Charlotte, N. C., by Deputy Sheriff H. G. Sellers, of Montgomery, in connection with the death of a man named Tucker in Montgomery last April. He will be returned to Alabama today.

Poulos is proprietor of a shoe shine and hat cleaning establishment at 2 Dexter avenue, Montgomery.

He said Sunday that Tucker's wife came to his store last April with a claim check, stating that she had left a hat to be cleaned. He said he was unable to find the hat after a careful search, and told her to buy another one and that he would pay the bill. She walked out of the store and when she returned her husband told officers that feeling ran high at the time, that threats were made against him, and that he was advised by friends to leave the city.

NICARAGUA REBEL SEIZES FORTRESS

San Juan del Sur, Nicaragua, October 25.—(AP)—General Emiliano Chamorro, former president of Nicaragua, advised from the capital, has seized the fortress of Tiscapa, overlooking Managua. Police and constabulary are on the defensive in the streets, where fighting is going on.

FOUR ARE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Several persons were carried to Grady hospital Sunday following minor injuries in automobile accidents and a boy was treated for a broken arm received while playing football.

R. C. Gilmer, 19, suffered lacerations on the arms in an automobile accident. He did not tell where it occurred and police have had no report.

John A. Mann, 12, of 65 Hayden street, was cut over the eye when he was struck down by an automobile on Luckie street. He was taken to Grady hospital. Police have no report of the accident.

Patrolmen R. K. Davis and W. D. Nash found Ben Noble, negro, of East Cain street, lying in the middle of the street at the intersection of Houston and Hilliard. He was carried to Grady hospital where he was treated for severe bruises and lacerations. He told officers he fell out of an automobile but could not tell where it occurred.

Louie Bloomberg, no address given, was carried to Grady hospital after suffering cuts and bruises in an automobile accident. He could not tell where it occurred.

G. A. Melgrim, 37, of Hapeville, was severely burned about the hands and feet at his home when he attempted to turn on an electric light at his home. He was taken to Grady hospital.

George Whitman, Jr., 16, son of a well-known College Park attorney, received a broken arm when playing football late Saturday. He was given first aid at Grady hospital and later removed to a private home.

W. T. Richards, 37, of 12 North Howard street, was arrested Sunday night by Patrolmen E. J. Fugate and R. H. Bentley, on a charge of operating an automobile while intoxicated, following an accident on Boulevard DeKalb. The automobile, which Richards was badly shaken up and bruised. Both cars were badly damaged.

Baltimore, October 25.—(AP)—Rain clouds over the international Jacques Schneider trophy seaplane race course had been vanquished tonight by a northeasterly gale, which said Richards was badly shaken up and bruised. Both cars were badly damaged.

The canvas hangars of the racing ships stood the test of the gale throughout the day and tonight all the ships had escaped injury.

Success of the University of Alabama in its game with the Georgia School of Technology Saturday afternoon was attributed to the perfect coordination of its members and to their willingness to sacrifice personal ambition for the good of the team.

CATHOLICS OBSERVE DIAMOND JUBILEE

Savannah, Ga., October 25.—(AP)—Catholics came from all parts of Georgia to Savannah today to attend the 10th annual convention of the Catholic Laymen's Association of Georgia. There were several hundred at the morning and afternoon sessions, a number of whom were Savannahans but the response in delegates from various parishes and organizations throughout the state was gratifying.

A pontifical high mass opening the convention and the diamond jubilee of the diocese of Savannah at the cathedral at 9:30 o'clock was the formal opening of the large assembly. This was celebrated by Bishop Keyes. Other priests of the mass were chosen from local and visiting clergy who afterwards attended the business sessions of the association.

After mass a corps of members with their cars drove the visiting delegates and attendants to the benefice armory where registration of delegates and visitors was conducted at 11 o'clock. A few minutes later State President Patrick H. Rice, K. C. S. C., of Augusta, sounded the gavel and the convention came to order. Thomas F. Walsh, Jr., delivered the address of welcome with much appeal and appreciation telling the laymen of the interest their visit has created. The reply by John B. McCallum, member of the Atlanta bar, was very expressive of the satisfaction the Catholics from over the state felt in again coming to Savannah.

Bishop Keyes opened the morning session with prayer. He remained through the business period and was seated among the officers on the stage. Priests from all local parishes and visiting from the diocese were scattered throughout the audience.

Athens, Ga., October 25.—(Special).—Nat. B. Stewart, a University of Georgia alumnus, and for many years prominent in the United States consular service, has been transferred from a post as consul general at Tokyo to Constantinople, Turkey.

In Turkey Mr. Stewart will act as associate United States high commissioner. He has served in the diplomatic corps in Turkey before.

Mr. Stewart married Mrs. Lucy Cobb Taylor, prominent American, Ga., woman. She is a graduate of Loyd Cobb institute. Mr. Stewart has been in the United States diplomatic service since his graduation at the university. He is a native Georgian.

SPRING HILL COLLEGE INSTRUCTOR IS DEAD

Mobile, Ala., October 25.—(AP)—Father George A. Rittmeyer, for 20 years instructor in foreign languages, moral and mental philosophy at Spring Hill college, died this afternoon at an infirmary from peritonitis. Father Rittmeyer celebrated his golden jubilee as a member of the Society of Jesus on September 3, 1924.

COAST GUARD PLANS NEW LIQUOR DRIVE OFF FLORIDA COAST

Norfolk, Va., October 25.—(AP)—The coast guard service is planning another concerted movement against rum runners, according to reports in marine circles here. Some strength is furnished the report by reason of the fact that the commanders of base sections of the service were summoned to Washington recently for a conference.

The base sections are composed of fast, motor boats, destroyers, mine sweepers and other craft designated for special service in connection with the crusade against rum smugglers. There are about 12 of the base sections.

It is along the Florida coast that the federal authorities are anticipating unusual activity among the rum fleet the coming winter, according to reports here. While the entire Florida coast is not included in the Norfolk division, Jacksonville and other advantageous points for the landing of whiskey are.

Mrs. Reuben Arnold Undergoes Operation In New York Hospital

Mrs. Reuben R. Arnold, of Atlanta, is doing well after an operation for acute appendicitis in New York hospital, according to a telegram just received here by members of her family.

Mrs. Arnold and her little daughter, Frances, were stopping at a New York hotel when the attack developed. Her husband was notified immediately and a mistress was declared in a law case in which he was counsel in order to allow him to leave at once for her bedside. Mr. Arnold left Wednesday night, arriving in New York Friday. The operation was performed Saturday.

SEABOARD WEST COAST LINE OPENS DECEMBER 1

Avon Park, Fla., October 25.—(AP)—S. Davies Warfield, president of the Seaboard Air Line, announced here today that the new Florida west coast branch of the Seaboard between Tampa and Waldo, via Jacksonville and Inverness, would be in operation by December 1.

Discussing the freight situation in Florida, Mr. Warfield said everything possible is being done to expedite all shipments. He declared freight is being given prior tracks right in some instances, necessitating delay in the schedules of passenger trains.

BRIDE OF WEEK ILL AT LOCAL INFIRMARY

Macon, Ga., October 25.—(Special).—Mrs. Carl Baird, a bride of last Tuesday, is critically ill at St. Joseph infirmary. Atlanta, according to reports received here by friends.

Mrs. Baird before her marriage was Miss Zulee Elder, a nurse. She married Carl Baird, with the Luther Williams bank here, last Tuesday in an elaborate home wedding. Rev. Dr. Walter Anthony, pastor of the Mulberry Street Methodist church, officiating.

After the wedding the couple left for North Carolina and Tennessee on their honeymoon, but the bride was taken ill in Atlanta and it was found necessary to remove her to the infirmary.

Mrs. Baird's condition at St. Joseph infirmary was considerably improved Sunday night, according to hospital authorities.

"Your constituents are enthusiastic in your support." "I know it," answered Senator Sorghum, "and I am grateful to them. They are cheering for a speech." "All right. But I'm not going to risk saying anything that might be unpopular. Get a jazz band ready and I'll introduce the numbers on the program."—Washington

Marvin Throckmorton Chosen To Head Evangelist Clubs

Charlotte, N. C., October 25.—(AP)—Following an address by Evangelist George Stevens, of Gastonia, at a banquet here last night, the fifth annual convention of Business Men's Evangelistic clubs closed with what veteran clubmen declared to be the most remarkable demonstration of spiritual power they had ever witnessed. Stirred by the remarks of the speaker on the covenants of God with man, 300 banqueters knelt about the banquet table, praying aloud for the things nearest their hearts and for a strengthening of their faith in the business of saving souls.

Sixty clubs in as many cities were represented in the convention, the delegates being from Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, North and South Carolina.

Marvin L. Throckmorton, of Atlanta, was re-elected president of the Association of Business Men's Evangelistic Clubs. Charles Norfleet, of Winston-Salem, was elected vice president, succeeding Walter P. Fraser, of Pittsburgh. James Morton, of Atlanta, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The following were elected to the executive committee: Alabama, W. G. Harrison, Evergreen; Florida, Charles T. Paxon, Jacksonville; Georgia, J. W. Brown, Atlanta; Mississippi, T. C. Garber, Jackson; Iowa, A. K. Harper, Fairfield; North Carolina, E. W. Pharr, Charlotte; Pennsylvania, W. P. Frazier, Pittsburgh; South Carolina, C. H. Baldwin, Columbia; Tennessee, J. P. McCallie, Chattanooga; West Virginia, William Hightower, Charleston; Virginia, S. G. Oakley, Roanoke.

The next meeting place will be decided by the executive committee. Leading laymen filled appointments here today in various churches, speaking to Bible classes and other organizations.

FORT WORTH RECORD IS SOLD BY HEARST

Fort Worth, Texas, October 25.—(AP)—Ownership and control of The Fort Worth Record, a morning newspaper owned by William Randolph Hearst, will be taken over October 31 by Amos G. Carter, publisher of The Fort Worth Star-Telegram, an afternoon newspaper. Mr. Hearst bought The Record about three years ago.

COULDGE TO ADDRESS FARM BUREAU MEETING

Chicago, October 25.—President Couldge is coming to Chicago December 7 as a Vermont farmer to meet farmers from all over the country. William M. Jardine, agriculture member of his cabinet, is coming along with him, also a farmer.

They will hear some 2,000 farmers talk and will be able, therefore, to carry back to Washington the farmer's composite message.

The occasion will be the seventh annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation. It will be in session December 7, 8 and 9.

Navy Will Broadcast Plots of Aviators

Pineville, Ky., Oct. 25.—(AP)—First Charges of political propaganda exploitation of salary paid Sunday—Tuesday who recently resigned as pro navy enforcement director of the Kentucky Tennessee district, with the object of forcing him out, were made in a Sunday school talk here today by former Circuit Judge B. J. Bethune, republican leader and former officer under Mr. Collins.

Declaring that William O. Mays, the man who succeeded Mr. Collins, had declared here that "if Sam Collins is not removed, the republican party will lose the state of Kentucky," Judge Bethune told the men's Bible class in First Christian church that Mr. Mays "is one of the wettest men in Kentucky."

Bullets Instead of Ballots Expected To Settle Struggle For Mastery of Chinese Nation

New Issue in Dispute Looms When Conference Opens Today To Revise Customs Laws.

Washington, October 25.—(AP)—A new Chinese political contest, with bullets instead of ballots relied upon to decide the issue in a three-cornered struggle for mastery, has projected itself into the Chinese situation on the eve of the opening in Peking tomorrow of the international conference to revise Chinese customs laws.

The fate of that conference apparently turns on the attitude of one of the trio of militarists who dominate China's political affairs.

For the moment, General Feng Yuxiang, the "Christian general," whose revolt against Marshal Wu Peifu sent that former Peking dictator into retirement and turned control of the central government over to Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian war lord, has not disclosed his purpose. He apparently divided the balance of power between Wu and Chang, and plans for the customs conference are proceeding at Peking on the assumption that he will continue his support of Chang. The sudden reentry of Wu in the tangled Chinese internal politics and the support of Yangtze Valley provincial military chiefs, however, conceivably is based on an understanding with Feng which has not been revealed.

Delegates Neutral.

In any event, the conference delegates assembled at Peking are bystanders in this new Chinese conflict. They can be expected to observe complete neutrality, although the statement that Chang has maintained his hold on Manchuria and widened it to grasp the powers of central government at Peking through Japanese aid never has been denied.

Wu's adherents already have driven Chang out of the Shantung province into which his control had extended.

and forced him back all along the line of his spread towards Central China, with Peking apparently the goal of his drive they now have formally placed in his hands. At one side of the dirt road to the capital stands Feng, with a busy artery of military supplies reaching from headquarters at Kalgan into Mongolia and thence to Russian soviet sources, placing him in a strategic position to seize Peking and overthrow the central government should political strategy require him to revert, even temporarily, to Wu's standard.

Most Washington observers have felt that it would be impossible for Wu and Feng to come together and act again in harmony. They have pointed out that the defection of Feng while Wu was preparing to grapple with Chang in an effort to carry his control into Manchuria by force of arms hurried Wu from power and that the latter would not be likely to trust again to Feng's loyalty.

Would Increase Revenue.

Admittedly, however, the Peking customs conference has created possible new stakes in the Chinese political game which neither Wu nor Feng could disregard, since its purpose is to increase the revenues of the Peking government and whatever militarist might be dominating the central government when such increases became effective would benefit, presumably, at the expense of his rivals.

Wu's demand that the allied diplomats postpone the conference until a more representative government could be placed in power demonstrates his recognition of the fact that it may play in Chinese internal politics. His demand was ignored on the ground that the western powers and Japan could not take sides in that struggle, but must deal with whatever de facto government they found in Peking.

Catholics in Savannah.

Macon, Ga., October 25.—(Special.) Fifty men and women went from Macon to Savannah today to attend the Catholic Laymen's conference.

TRIAL OF SHERIFF MAY END TODAY

Macon, Ga., October 25.—(AP)—The government will complete its presentation of evidence in the trial of J. Clark Middlebrooks, sheriff of Jones county; G. F. Rape, former county policeman, and Wyatt Rape, his son at tomorrow morning's session of United States district court. The defense has a number of character witnesses, but it is believed that the case will be in the hands of the jury by night.

The three men are accused of conspiring to violate the national prohibition law.

A number of witnesses, including several confessed moonshiners, have testified that they paid Middlebrooks and Rape sums of money from time to time for protection.

The case has been on trial for two days. Judge W. H. Barrett permitted the members of the jury to go to their homes over Sunday.

Legion To Seek Better Treatment For Disabled Vets

Washington, October 25.—(AP)—More liberal treatment of disabled veterans and enactment of a universal draft law are among the principal recommendations the American Legion will submit to membership of congress.

John Thomas Taylor, vice chairman of the national legislative committee, announced today the legion's program, which would include a drive for enactment of a law permitting retirement of disabled emergency officers and would seek amendment of the adjusted compensation act to clarify the provision requiring dependents to make "lengthy and objectionable affidavits."

Care of Disabled.

Among changes to be sought in the present law relating to care of the disabled, the legion will ask a rating of permanent and total disability for active insular patients and of 50 per cent disability for arrested tubercular patients, a rating of permanent and total disability for men who have been rated temporary for 12 months and who are still rated so; extension of period for insurance conversion; creation of a permanent medical corps in the veterans' bureau; and removal of limiting dates on rehabilitation.

Universal Draft Bill.

The universal draft bill sponsored in the legislative program would give the president authority to take steps to stabilize prices of commodities, to draft into service all persons between the ages of 21 and 30 years, and to proclaim the material resources and industrial organizations of the country under government control during the emergency.

Interests of veterans in government employ, Mr. Taylor's announcement added, would be better protected through placing under civil service regulations the United States bureau of efficiency, the United States personnel classification board and the United States employees' compensation commission.

25TH ANNIVERSARY OF DR. McLAUGHLIN CELEBRATED HERE

Professor Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta public schools, Marvin L. Throver, president of the Evangelistic Clubs of America, will be principal speakers at a celebration at 7 o'clock tonight at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, in honor of the 25th anniversary of the ordination of their pastor, Dr. Charles P. McLaughlin. Addresses will be given by Professor Plato T. Durham, D. D., of Emory university, and the Rev. C. Luther Miller, D. D., pastor of the Lutheran church at Chattanooga, Tenn. Charles H. Stieglitz will act as toastmaster.

The meeting tonight is a continuation of the celebration begun at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at the church when an anniversary sermon was delivered by the Rev. Elmer F. Kraus, D. D., president of the Lutheran Theological seminary of Chicago.

Dr. McLaughlin was ordained Sunday, October 21, 1900, at Mt. Morris, Ill., by the Evangelical Lutheran synod of northern Illinois, and came to Atlanta on March 1, 1925, as pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer here.

GOETCHIUS' CONDITION REMAINS UNCHANGED

The condition of Henry R. Goetchius, of Columbus, prominent attorney and trustee of the University of Georgia, was unchanged Sunday night, it was reported at Piedmont hospital where he is critically ill. Mr. Goetchius was brought to the hospital several days ago. He is known throughout the state.

MACON EXPOSITION FINANCIAL SUCCESS

Macon, Ga., October 25.—(Special.) The Georgia State exposition, which closed last midnight, was a financial success, according to the fair officials, but the exhibits in some instances were not up to the usual standard. This was partly due to the drought in some sections of Georgia, it was said.

Fair weather prevailed throughout the week with the exception of Friday night and Saturday morning, showers setting in again late Saturday night.

NEGRO LABOR CONGRESS OPENS CHICAGO MEET

Chicago, October 25.—(AP)—The American negro labor congress opened here tonight a week of business meetings by day and mass meetings by night. Pamphlets published by Lovett Fort-Whiteman, organizer of the congress, who recently returned from Russia, tend to show it is interested in communistic treatment of labor and sociological problems, and especially of black-and-white race problems.

William Montgomery Brown, recently deposed bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church, will address the congress Tuesday. William Z. Foster, American communist and head of the I. W. W., and Robert Minor, also will speak.

Macon Winters Circus.

Macon, Ga., October 25.—(Special.) Sparks circus, which winters here, is on the way home. The circus will enter Georgia October 30 showing at LaGrange. Then it will go to southern Georgia and Florida and probably will go into winter quarters here, early in December.

Too Much Cant Hampers Church, Says Preacher

Following up his sermon of a week ago on hypocrites or "Fictitious Disciples," Dr. Houghton, of the Baptist Tabernacle, spoke Sunday on disciples who were true, who really had been born again but who had never grown spiritually after conversion, his subject being "The Peril of Shallowness." He based his sermon on the parable of the seed, using the incident of the seed sown upon stony places where there was not much earth, telling of their springing up, and because they had no root, withering away, and also of Christ's interpretation of this incident. He stated that the seed was the word and the ground the human heart.

He stated that one of the sorrows of Jesus was the fickleness of human nature. He called attention to the fact that many followed Him for convenience or furtherance of social, political, or financial position, while others followed to gain power, and that Jesus longed for those who would help bear the burden.

He stated that one of the troubles with the church today was that there was too much mere cant—pious talking, empty phrases, merely going through motions and ceremonies that had no place in the heart or experience. He said some people had the idea that young people had to be amused to get them interested in the church, but that what they really wanted was the true message—the word of God.

He suggested four things that make stability in the Christian life—first, persistence in Bible study—second, persistence in prayer; third, persistence

COURT BELIEVES IN BEING LENIENT WITH NEWLYWEDS

Los Angeles, October 25.—Honey-mooners are not exactly sane, and should be granted leniency for violation of laws, according to Police Justice Ambrose.

J. J. Roberts appeared in court to answer to a charge of driving 40 miles an hour.

"I wasn't watching the speedometer," he admitted. "We were on our honeymoon."

Justice Ambrose fined Roberts $15, then suspended sentence.

"Where were you going?" he asked. "Must I tell you that, judge?" pleaded Roberts.

The court then dismissed the case.

MACON EPISCOPALIANS TO WELCOME BISHOP

Macon, Ga., October 25.—(Special.) Members of the Episcopal churches of this city are making great plans for the reception to Bishop Daniel T. Huntington, who for 30 years has been located at Anking, China, and who will arrive here on Tuesday.

Rev. Oliver J. Hart, rector of Christ Episcopal church, met Bishop Huntington at the general conference in New Orleans and persuaded him to come to Macon.

On Tuesday night there will be a union service of all Episcopal churches of Macon at Christ church, with delegates present from Fort Valley and Milledgeville, at which Bishop Huntington will tell of the uprising in China.

In attendance on church meetings, and fourth, persistence in duty.

Sunday night he spoke to a large congregation on a subject especially prepared for the young people, "Wishbone or Backbone?"

Locarno Divides War and Peace, Says Chamberlain

London, October 25.—The dividing line between the years of war and the years of peace was drawn at Locarno, according to Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, who intimated that European disarmament is in the offing, in a conference with newspapermen.

"We reached agreements which do not, indeed, make war impossible," Chamberlain said, "but which do render war infinitely less probable than it otherwise would have been."

"The things which stood in the way of disarmament have been suspicion, fear and a feeling of insecurity. By removing these stumbling blocks, we have made disarmament possible."

Chamberlain said Germany would not obtain mandates from the League of Nations to govern her former colonies, but that if it became necessary to mandate other territories, Germany would be eligible the same as other powers.

FARMERS OF THOMAS SOWING MUCH GRAIN

Thomasville, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—The farmers of Thomas county are busy plowing grain crops. The very dry weather which prevailed at the regular planting time deferred the plowing in of the early crops, but the heavy rainfall of the first of the week wet the soil thoroughly and the weather is ideal for planting.

The oat crop will have a large average this season, more oats being planted here than any other of the grain crops.

CAROLINA FARMERS INVESTIGATE LAND NEAR THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—A party of prospectors from the tobacco-growing section of North Carolina was in Thomasville Friday and made a trip around the county investigating the advantages as to climate, soil and other features in view of settling here. They professed to be greatly pleased with what they saw, not only in respect to tobacco possibilities but in regard to crop conditions generally.

They were taken to the tobacco warehouse and given some idea of what had been done here in Thomasville's first season as a tobacco market and what is already being done for next season.

NAVY WILL BROADCAST EXPLOITS OF AVIATORS

Washington, October 25.—(AP)—First-hand accounts of recent navy exploits in the realm of aeronautics will be given the public by radio Tuesday night as one of the features of navy day.

Through the medium of a network of radio stations covering the east and middlewest provided by the American Telephone and Telegraph company, millions will be able to hear addresses by Commander John Rodgers, hero of the Hawaiian flight; Lieutenant-Commander Emory E. Rosendahl, senior surviving officer of the Shenandoah disaster; and Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd, Jr., who commanded the navy section of the MacMillan Arctic expedition. They will be introduced by Secretary Wilbur and will describe their experiences to the unseen audience.

12 1/2% Efficient

Statistics show that the average modern motor car is only 12 1/2% efficient. 87 1/2% of the power developed when gasoline explodes is lost. Friction, wind pressure, leakage of power, heat loss, and slippage, all take their toll.

With the best gas only functioning at 12 1/2% efficiency, imagine the losses that take place when poor to ordinary gases are used.

Don't put any extra load on your motor. Even with the best gas that you can buy, there is a tremendous loss. Give it fuel that is carbon free, fuel that makes the motor maximumly efficient, and minimumly wasteful. Give it Blue Streak.

Drive into one of the 19 convenient Reed Stations. Fill up with Blue Streak, then cut down the gas flow in your carburetor, for you don't need so much of this richer gas.

Taylor's Blood Medicine is sold by all good druggists. Sales are made under the condition that should your rheumatism not be relieved, empty bottles are to be returned and cash refunded to you. Three bottles (which should last thirty days), will determine its benefits. These three bottles, as explained, are absolutely guaranteed to do all we claim.

You have everything to gain and nothing to lose by starting a treatment of Taylor's Blood Medicine today. You are certain that either your health will be improved or the treatment will cost you nothing. Do not let this vital matter slip your mind. Get a bottle of Taylor's Blood Medicine from your druggist—NOW—(adv.)

Strong and vigorous action . . . Hard muscles that respond without a creak or quirk . . . A mind that thinks clearly and quickly. These are the things that rheumatism steals from you.

Pangs of pain replace them. Slow, sluggish action of mind and body results. Your wages decrease as ability to work is lessened. Old age doubles its pace and grimly stalks with outstretched hands towards the unfortunate victim.

What is the cause of this needless waste of manpower? What can stop this loss of health and vigor? Tay-

Politics Blamed for Failure To Arrange Satisfactory Settlement of French Debt

Manufacturer Says Europe's Will to Pay, Not Ours to Receive, Should Dominate Agreement.

Chicago, October 25.—A "common sense" policy in settlement of the French debt is proposed in a letter to Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, by Charles N. Piez, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, one of the most influential groups of its kind. Copies of the letter, made public Sunday, also were forwarded to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and members of the debt funding commission.

As an introduction, Piez said the results of the recent conference on the French debt were "wholly unsatisfactory."

Confidence in Mellon.

The letter expressed confidence in the ability of Secretary Mellon, and says that had he and Joseph Caillaux, the French finance minister, had the support of their respective legislative bodies, a "satisfactory settlement" would have been reached.

"I have reason to believe that these gentlemen could have reached a settlement had it not been for fears that a mutually fair and reasonable agreement would not have sanction of the respective legislative bodies, whose approval is necessary," Piez says.

He then charged that the whole debt matter had entered into politics.

Cannot Force Payment.

"We cannot compel any foreign nation to pay us," Piez wrote. "We would not embark upon a war collection—for quite aside from the morality of the proceedings, we know it would be futile."

"Our debtors have emerged from contemplating the delightful prospects of all-around cancellation. They are willing to pay. It is up to us as creditors squarely to face the facts and decide on a line of conduct."

Lines of conduct Piez proposes contain six points, namely:

1.—That we must approach our settlements not as friends of either side in the recent conflict, but as Americans.

2.—That settlement of the question "why we entered the war," is of no moment, we want to have it out of the way."

3.—That the pre-armistice funds advanced were put out solely to the end of defeating the central powers.

4.—That cancellation of the pre-armistice debts is out of the question.

5.—That America is assuming any settlement reached with her debtors is a large profit out of the war.

6.—That while America wants her principal paid, it is not her desire to turn a profit out of the war.

"We entered the war to defeat the central powers at whatever cost might be necessary and now that the war is over, we want to have it out of the way," Piez said.

was serious, they immediately brought him to the city hospital and afterward a large posse went in search of the fleeing negro. Several miles from the city three negroes were overtaken but Ellis was not among them. It is reported that the same three negroes were later arrested at Stone Mountain and carried to Atlanta for safe keeping.

Search Continues.

In the meantime, every section of this county and immediate territory is being searched for the would-be murderer, and it is believed that he soon will be apprehended. Warren Cooper, who harbored Ellis and apparently set a trap for Sheriff Riley, has been placed in jail here.

Sheriff Riley is 51 years old, has long been recognized as one of the best arresting officers in Georgia. A few years ago he was shot in the hand by a negro, the hand later becoming paralyzed and practically useless. A condition in connection with his marriage to Miss Esther Dial, of Walnut Grove, occurring some weeks ago was announced in The Constitution this morning.

Both Sheriff Riley and Mr. Sorrells are resting easily. Physicians state that while their condition is serious, their recovery is possible provided there are no complications.

statements who permitted this debt to accumulate to its present total since the end of the war.

How is it we have such a colossal debt? he asked. "Because of a war, without a doubt, but also especially because of the post-war period. I am right to say that if we did not finance the war, no more did we have the courage, once peace was signed, to reduce expenses and to increase receipts."

"Rather, we preferred to strut about in a kingdom of illusions. It was declared that everything would be easy. 'Germany will pay.' In the shelter of this delusory, we borrowed right and left. However, that time has passed. We continued to scatter to the public waste upon waste of printed paper without seeming to doubt that this could not endure indefinitely."

Budget Budget in 1927.

Caillaux then promised that if his financial program were accepted by the chamber, after 1926 the treasury would have sufficient income to cover all expenditures. He said he contemplated borrowing further from the Bank of France, a procedure attacked by his opponents because it means further inflation.

"Pursuant to parliamentary already started regarding interallied debts, Caillaux continued, 'I went successively to England and America, and if I could not reach at first try a desirable accord in the United States, I am confident that it will not be many months before an agreement will be obtained.'"

Declaring unreservedly against a capital levy, Caillaux said:

"Those are the views which seduce when presented cleverly, but which do not withstand close examination. They come within that category of geometrical ideas which I most distrust, which almost always are in contradiction to realities."

PROSPEROUS SECTION IS DRAWING CIRCUSES

Thomasville, Ga., October 25.—(Special).—Circus owners around the country seem to have caught on to the fact of the great prosperity in south Georgia, as many are making their way to this section. Thomasville has already had one, with another coming next week and several more said to be on the way.

The crowds in from the country to attend the one last week was an indication that money was plentiful in the county and the people were out to take a little enjoyment.

DECATUR CHURCH OPENS CENTENNIAL

Decatur, Ga., October 25.—(Special).—Celebration of the centennial of the First Presbyterian church of Decatur began here this morning at the 11 o'clock service when C. Murphy Candler delivered the historical address. Mr. Candler dwelt at length on the history of the church, reading the names of the original first members who helped Dr. J. P. Wilson organize the church 100 years ago, the first building being a log cabin. He also gave the names of other prominent citizens who were members of the church, along with names of Sunday school superintendents and pastors' names. Mr. Candler's address was replete with historical details.

List of Known Dead.

White: Ralph Knight, 18; Ruby Knight, 16; Frances Knight, 6; Mary Ellen Knight, 3; Mrs. Eliza Davis, 65; Beatrice Tillis and baby; Ella Lee Blue.

Near Luverne, two are known to be dead, both white. They are Mrs. Peacock, 105; Tom Long, 70.

List of Injured in Storm.

The injured are: Walter Knight and wife, not expected to live; Herman Knight, Ray Knight, Frank Davis, Bob Jordan, J. P. Davis, Mrs. Frank Davis, Pat Swanson and wife (negroes).

In the Oak Grove neighborhood, Noah Griffin's home was destroyed and Mr. Griffin, his wife and one child seriously injured. Two children escaped unhurt.

At Orion, on the Montgomery-Troy road, the home and store of Walter Kelly was completely demolished. Mr. Kelly and his family all escaped unhurt while a brother was slightly hurt.

In the path of the storm, which came up from the west and passed out to the northwest, a trail of wreckage and death was left.

Houses were demolished, barns were blown down, cattle and other livestock wandered aimlessly about, household goods were strewn along the highways and through the fields, while timber was laid low and farm crops completely ruined.

In one neighborhood, Goodhope, five persons were killed and one whole family of nine almost wiped out. Fourteen houses were completely destroyed. Noah Griffin, one of the seriously injured, was hit on the head by a heavy piece of timber, which was blown through the window of his home just before the cyclone picked it up and scattered it around him.

The residents near the path of the storm were aroused by the terrific wind and cries of the injured, and worked in a desperate race to aid amid vivid flashes of lightning for hours, rendering aid to the injured and searching for the missing. The dead and injured were scattered along the roads in the fields and around the demolished homes.

WIND AND RAINSTORM STRIKES CEDARTOWN.

Cedartown, Ga., October 25.—(Special).—A severe wind storm accompanied by heavy rains struck Cedartown and vicinity Saturday night. Large trees were uprooted in Cedartown and south of town, near Esom Hill, several houses were blown down and severe damage done to crops.

SEVERE WINDSTORM VISITS RICHMOND.

Richmond, October 25.—(P).—Traffic was halted, many awnings were torn away from business houses, and a number of automobiles were slightly damaged when a windstorm, accompanied by a torrential rain, struck this city this morning.

The most serious damage was suffered by a downtown shoe store where the heavy plate glass windows were blown in and other damage done. A solid sheet of water made traffic impossible during the storm which lasted more than an hour.

tary conflicts from wrecking Europe's new regime of European cooperation.

Both Promise To Be Good.

Hope that the council can regulate the Greek-Bulgarian outbreak in a manner which will bring about a permanent peace in the Balkans was expressed by the willingness of abiding by the council's decision, and that Greece, in a manner to the league of nations today virtually agreed to withdraw her troops from the frontier provided Bulgaria does the same.

Should both parties to the dispute retire to their respective frontiers, the problem from the league standpoint becomes different, for Bulgaria appealed to the league on the ground that Greece had invaded her territory. If mutual invasion ceases to exist, neither Bulgaria or Greece must ask the council to mediate on the causes of the conflict and bring in a solution calculated to prevent fresh outbreaks.

It is planned tonight that the council shall first meet in private session, after which there will be a public sitting to hear explanations from both Bulgarians and Greek representatives. The council will adjourn until Tuesday to consider the statements.

May Send To Investigate.

Should either party insist on a council inquiry to determine the responsibility for the outbreak, the council may vote to send a special commission to the Macedonian frontier to make an investigation.

The Greco-Bulgarian trouble is regarded in league circles as all the more unfortunate and untimely, as hopes were entertained that the Balkans would follow the greater powers of Europe in constructing a Balkan security pact, on which Greece had been taking the initiative, and which would include Greece, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Rumania and possibly also Turkey.

Efforts will be made not only to settle the new frontier conflict, but to encourage the creation of a Balkan pact, rendering similar disputes unlikely.

COMPETENCY OF LEAGUE ACCEPTED BY GREECE.

Geneva, October 25.—Greece has accepted the competency of the league of nations council to act in her present embroilment with Bulgaria.

In a note received here Sunday from Athens, she accepts in advance the decision of the council on the merits of the frontier trouble and declares her willingness to remove Greek troops from Bulgarian territory as soon as the Bulgarians quit Greek frontier posts which they now occupy.

Acceptance Causes Relief.

The Greek acceptance was hailed here with great relief, for apparently it has again deferred a much-feared test of the workability of Article 16 of the covenant, which provides for enforcement of league edicts in

A Service, Not Merely an Oil Enterprising Atlanta Firm Burner, States Pres. Greene Keeps Busy All the Year

"When you buy an oil burner for your home, you are justified in expecting a comparative lifetime of satisfactory heating service. NoKoi success depends upon permanent satisfaction to every NoKoi owner."

This statement made by George M. Greene, president of Automatic Heating, Inc., local distributors for NoKoi, embodied the fundamental policy which has resulted in the splendid increase in NoKoi installations preparatory to the coming heating season.

The efficient burning of distillate—not heavy, low-grade oil—permits the assurance of uninterrupted automatic service guaranteed by NoKoi and the rapidity with which the temperature in the combustion chamber is raised to the necessary 3,000 degrees required for the complete burning of oil eliminates all soot, smoke and waste. This means economy in fuel consumption—a cost equivalent to hard coal at $12 a ton and less than that of any other oil burner, regardless of the grade of oil used.

Now is the time for installations to be made, when on the first cool mornings and evenings just a little heat feels so good and possibly prevents a disagreeable cold. NoKoi can be installed in connection with your present heating system, whether it be hot air, steam, hot water or vapor, without alteration.

A telephone call to Hemlock 1543 or a personal call at the office of Automatic Heating, Inc., 528 Peachtree, will bring you any further information as to how NoKoi can serve you.

That to make them properly requires time and skill. The type is set up (same as for printing), a mould of plaster combination is made, and, when this is hardened, a sheet of rubber placed over it—this is put on the vulcanizer, which has already been heated. At first the gum softens, and is pressed down into the mould made by the type—later the heat causes the gum to harden (vulcanizes it), but, when properly vulcanized, allows it to retain its elasticity. The sheet is then cut up into the separate stamps (there's usually 50 or more to a mould)—an electric saw cuts strips to fit, a boring machine makes a hole for the handle—a boy combines the assortment, puts on a tack, and the stamp is ready.

Dixie stamps are made by expert workmen, using the most modern equipment, and we believe that our goods will satisfy you. Try us with your next order.

Big Southern Firm Adds New and Improved Line

The Southern Bearings and Parts company, of 449 Peachtree street, have added a new line in the King Radio made by the King Quality Products, Inc., of Buffalo, N. Y.

This King radio is the last word in the radio world and is the result of careful study and research for the past few years. When it will be recalled that the radio is a practically new invention and only came into common use during the past few years, it is no wonder that great improvements are being made yearly and the King radio is far ahead of old-style radios that seemed wonderful to us a short time ago.

Simplicity rules all through the design of the King-Hinners Neutrodyne receiver—anyone can operate it. Three separate tuning controls insure exact tuning and greater selectivity. Volume control gives correct volume gradually. A plunger switch automatically changes the reception from four to five tubes as desired—no plugs to change.

Twenty-seven points of superiority combine in the King-Hinners Neutrodyne receiver, to give easy operation, high quality of reception, faithful performance and real service. It is truly "King in Radio."

Faithful tone and volume are obtained by the arrangement of the tubes. Whistling due to outside interference is reduced to a minimum. The double metal panel, with the condensed shields, make a complete system of shielding and eliminate capacity coupling between the condensers or between the operator and the receiver. Possibility of trouble is reduced by a volt-meter which tells you how much energy is being fed to the filament, prolongs tube life and warns you when the "A" battery is wrongly connected or needs recharging. The Rheostat, master control, shuts off or turns on the current, and controls the flow of energy.

R. M. Schorer, manager of the Southern Bearings and Parts company, stated a large stock of these King radios are also being carried in their branch houses in Birmingham, Jacksonville, Charlotte and Winston-Salem and all those living nearest any of these cities will get the same good service as at the Atlanta headquarters.

Speaking about his long established line of automobile replacement parts, Mr. Schorer stated business has never been better than it has been the past few months. This, he states, is due to the fact that every line of automobile repair in the southeast has come to learn that the Southern Bearings and Parts company can send them from their nearest house any part of any automobile now on the market in a very few hours.

ing and cooking stoves, gas appliances, hot water heaters, grates, furnaces and all the best lines of cooking utensils. Having had these stove lines in another location he has a large number of well pleased customers in all parts of the city and county.

That he will do well in his new location is already assured for while there but a short while his salesforce and delivery department are having a busy time and long days of it at present.

To the practical person who might think that in making it so beautiful the main reason of heating a room comfortably and saving fuel might be overlooked, if those that might be prone to think that way were to give five minutes close examination to the Queen Anne Home Heater they would see more good points in the stove inside of the outside cabinet than they thought possible could be put in any kind of a heating stove and they would be also astonished at the very low price this fine heater can be bought for, but why not see it? Mr. Hatley's doors are wide open.

One of the requests he is now making to every wife and mother to whom the comfort and well-being of her family are the most important is to see the New Queen Anne Home Heater that he carries in stock.

This beautiful home heater is enclosed in a fine enameled cabinet that is one of the most distinctive and beautiful pieces of furniture on the market and the lady that loves a beautiful home should take the time and call and see this marvel of beauty and latest thing in the stove world.

Four Local Prep Teams Clash This Week-End

Tech High-G. M. A. Contest To Eliminate Contender; U. S. B. Plays Locust Grove

BY BEN COTHRAN

Four local prep teams will clash this week-end when Marist meets Tech High Thursday afternoon, and Tech High plays G. M. A. on Friday afternoon. University will encounter the Locust Grove Institute team, and Decatur High will entertain Winder High School on Friday afternoon.

With the battles this week at least one team will be out of the running for the city title of this year. Boys' High lost its chance last Friday afternoon when G. M. A. nosed out a 7 to 6 victory.

The Tech High-G. M. A. game will be one that will be hard-fought throughout and well worth seeing. Tech High has come through the season thus far without a defeat, having won three games and tied one out of four played. It is interesting to note that the tie game with Monroe A. & M. Saturday morning was the fourth game of the season, and that the game of last season, when the Smiths were crowned southern champions, which was played with Ensey High of Birmingham, also ended in a 0 to 0 tie.

Boys' High and Marist will be on practically even terms this year, with Marist holding a slight advantage on account of the number of its veterans. The Purple team, however, has a fast, scrappy team, that is full of fight and drive, as was shown in Friday's game with G. M. A. Boys' High made 10 first downs against six chalked up by the Cadets.

The Hurricane star fullback, who has been leading the attack of the team this year. He scored Decatur's only touchdown in a touchdown game Friday, and on another occasion its driving attack brought the Hurricane within

VANDY MAN 'Six' Carpenter May Be out Of Lineup Several Weeks

BY HOMER GEORGE

Georgia Tech may take this as a declaration: "Beware!" The Jackets are in for a battle which may prove more surprising than the defeat by Alabama, when they journeyed to Nashville November 7 to meet Vanderbilt. I will not show the brazenly required to predict that Vanderbilt will beat the great Tornado, but I will guarantee that they will get a battle which will not be one-sided by any means.

Vanderbilt is certain to score on Tech, and it is just possible that Tech will not score on the Commodores. This may be less majestic or high treason, or what not; let it be. Vanderbilt needed what she got Saturday. She was a bit too cocky, not the coaching staff, nor the captain, but some of the players. Tech, and Vandy was a bit too cocky, not the coaching staff, nor the captain, but some of the players.

Coach Phillips announced that he would put the squad through a complete physical examination this week, as they have been working rather hard in the last two games. There are still several rough spots to be smoothed out in the squad and a good deal of the time will be devoted to this. Special attention will also be given to tackling, line play, and smoothness in executing plays.

Decatur High will face another hard foe in Winder High which is said to have a strong team this season. Coach Bowling has turned out a fighting squad this year, and they have won half of the games played this season. Decatur has a valuable man in Jack Jackson, star fullback, who has been leading the attack of the team this year. He scored Decatur's only touchdown in a touchdown game Friday, and on another occasion its driving attack brought the Hurricane within

Penn and Dartmouth Lead Eastern Contenders

New York, October 25.—It's a grand and glorious old tradition that can withstand the ferocious buffeting of time and fate as has the east's "Big Three" tradition in football.

Although the Yale-Harvard-Princeton tradition doubtless will persist as an object for the derision of posterity, it can be stated definitely with a mere casual glance at Saturday's statistics that the question of the "Big Three" championship for the 1925 season will be of about as much interest to the world at large as the tax situation during the third dynasty in ancient Egypt.

The same process of higher thought indicates that more attention than ever will be paid to what many fans will persist in calling the national collegiate championship. And as for sectional championships, there will be food for conversation at old Swarthmore reunions at least until the opening of the 1926 off-season.

Pennsylvania and Dartmouth stand out in the east and Iowa and Michigan in the middle west. Pennsylvania's 7 to 0 defeat of Chicago, which must have astounded the middle west, most of which believes the worst western team can generally trim the best eastern team, was impressive enough to indicate continued success for the Philadelphia team. Penn is likely to defeat Illinois next week, a habit which other teams have acquired this year, despite Red Grange and which Michigan experienced Saturday with the small but sufficient margin of 3 to 0.

When Penn will beat Harvard and the Pittsburgh Panthers on successive dates, massing her strength for the Thanksgiving day battle with Cornell, "small herself" is a distinct leader by virtue of the fact that she has not been scored upon, but her schedule has been strong enough to entitle her to

FRISCO WINS THREE STRAIGHT

San Francisco, October 25.—(AP)—San Francisco, champions of the Pacific Coast league, made it three straight over the Louisville Colonels, champions of the American association, winning the first game of a doubleheader today by a score of 9 to 0.

Big "Doug" McWeeny, who was sent to the showers in the first game of the series, was in fine form and held the visitors to three hits.

VALDOSTA HIGH BEATS QUITMAN

Quitman, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—Valdosta high school defeated Quitman high school football team here Saturday afternoon by a score of 13 to 0. Tallman, Frank, Everett Powell and Hillman starred for Quitman. Dampier, Mullins, Winn and Norman played brilliantly for the visitors. Valdosta was accompanied by a drum and bugle corps and a large delegation.

LAUFER LOWERS SWIMMING RECORD

Cleveland, Ohio, October 25.—(AP)—Walter Laufner, national back stroke champion, lowered a world swimming record and established one at an indoor exhibition here last night. Laufner swam the 200-meter back stroke in 2:42, lowering by 7 3/5 seconds the previous record held by Stubby Kruger, of Chicago.

Alabama, Virginia Lead Southern Conference Teams

New Orleans, October 25.—(AP)—Alabama and Virginia are tied in the standing of the southern conference with three victories each. The Crimson, however, has a more impressive record thus far than the Cavaliers. Alabama's statement of assets is larger than that of the Old Dominion team, and the champions have no liabilities with three games behind them.

Alabama has scored 70 points, and has not been scored on by an opponent. Virginia has counted 31 and has been nicked for 16 points by the opposition. Alabama has defeated Louisiana State, Sewanee and Georgia Tech. Virginia has won from Georgia, V. M. I. and Maryland.

Both leaders were forced to extend their season by a single game. Alabama stopped Saturday, Alabama stopping Tech, 7 to 0, while Virginia scored a 6 to 0 victory over Maryland.

For the second year in succession, Mack Brown, a fast stepping halfback, proved an elusive thorn in the flesh of the Yellow Jackets. A great play by the Jackets, a 60-yard touchdown yesterday just as a similar performance greatly embarrassed them a year ago.

Alabama shared with Alabama in gaining prestige Saturday. The Greenbacks stopped Northwestern cold on a wet Chicago field and won, 18 to 7. Tulane served notice early in the season, when she led Missouri, Missouri valley champion, to a 6 to 0 draw that shook the confidence of the conference.

By outplaying the western team throughout the southerners demonstrated a class that only their partisan supporters had been willing to concede. In "Peggy" Flournoy the Greenies have a punter who seems the first logical southern successor to Alan Thurman, whose high, wide and handsome kicks at Virginia were a sensation a decade ago.

Georgia displayed a decided edge over Vanderbilt, winning 26 to 7, the margin of victory being greater than forecast. Washington and Lee, with a 20 to 0 triumph over V. P. I., also outscored expectations.

The Kentucky-Sewanee game was regarded as a touchdown either way but the Wildcats negotiated two and downed the Tigers, 14 to 0.

V. M. I. hit its stride against North Carolina State, the Flying Cadets downing the Wolf pack, 26 to 7. The Mississippi Aggies turned "Ole Miss" back, 6 to 0, when an unknown and unsung substitute spilled the beans for the university. Unger scored the only touchdown of the game and will probably have his name and a

BOBBY WALTHOUR IS BIKE RACE FAVORITE

Chicago, October 25.—(AP)—Fourteen teams started tonight in the six-day bicycle race at the Columbia which will end at 11 o'clock next Saturday night after 146 hours.

The field included seventeen American riders, four Italians, two Frenchmen and one each from Belgium, Australia, Germany, Poland, and Bohemia. Bobby Walthour and Freddie Spencer, winners of the last six-day race in New York, were again paired and were the favorites.

VALLEY TITLE SATURDAY'S ISSUE

Kansas City, Mo., October 25.—(AP)—Missouri and Iowa State will fight it out for the leadership of the Missouri Valley conference next Saturday.

Tied at the top of the list, each with two victories and no defeat, the two teams will clash at Columbia, with Missouri fighting desperately to retain the valley title.

Missouri and Ames retained their high position in games yesterday only after hard struggles. Ames, playing Washington, faced defeat until the latter part of the final period, when a brilliant aerial attack netted three touchdowns in quick succession. Missouri, battling the Kansas Aggies at Manhattan, won by the bare margin of a field goal from Captain Whiteman's toe.

It was a spectacular 88-yard run by Miller in the second period, followed by a field goal, that threw consternation into the ranks of Iowa State, and gave Washington what seemed a victory until Hall's passing attack put the St. Louisians to rout.

Nebraska retained its gain over Kansas yesterday at Lincoln and won from the Jayhawks, 14 to 0.

What is thought to be a record for modern football was made in the Grinnell-Gammon game at Grinnell. Drake players were tackled behind their own line for three safeties, making all of Grinnell's six points.

A game that resulted in a record proved the ruining of Grinnell, and Drake won.

Oklahoma battled Southern Methodist university to a standstill at Dallas and won 9 to 0.

Permit System Used To Control Florida Freight

West Palm Beach, Fla., October 25.—Florida has put into effect a permit system of controlling freight movement.

Local business men appointed to "consignees committee" with practical experience are deciding who shall receive freight in every city of any size from Jacksonville to Miami on the east coast of Florida.

The committee have no legal status, but derive their power from a wave of public sentiment in favor of extra legal control of freight congestion which threatens to stop the expansion of this part of the state.

Prospective consignees must appear before these local bodies and prove their "right" to receive freight. The committees issue "permits" to consignees, each permit calling for a specific freight shipment. The "permits" are submitted to the railroad company, which in turn grants a "permit" and, if possible, moves the freight.

Controlling the local committees and allocating trains to cities along the coast is a central committee with headquarters at West Palm Beach. It was selected by representatives from each city in the district, and is working with the railroad officials to control freight by designating the number of freight cars to be moved daily to each community.

The power of the committee system depends upon cooperation from the railroads. The Florida East Coast railway, which serves all of the cities involved and is the only railroad along the east coast, has pledged itself to restrict its "permits" to those approved by the committee. The railroad retains its legal right as a common carrier to accept any freight offered, largely as a matter of form.

GALLANT CAPTAIN VEERS ROUTE TO AID SEASICK WOMAN

New York, October 25.—The high-water mark of chivalry of the high seas was reached by Captain Johnsen, of the North German Lloyd liner Columbus.

Among his 1,712 passengers was Mrs. Katherine Tingley, founder of the theosophical cult and president of the Universal Brotherhood Colony at Point Loma, Cal. Mrs. Tingley was extremely seasick.

In order not to aggravate her condition Captain Johnsen zig-zagged the Columbus for nearly a whole day, avoiding taking mountainous waves head-on, and thus minimizing the rocking of the ship.

J. A. Hollomon To Speak At Alpharetta Tuesday At Highway Meeting

Alpharetta, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—James A. Hollomon, of the editorial staff of The Atlanta Constitution, has accepted an invitation to address a mass meeting of the voters of Alford county at the court house here next Tuesday at 12:30 o'clock.

A mass meeting has been called for the purpose of discussing the question of good roads in general, and the building of a highway across the county from east to west and hard surfaced the highway now running north and south from Roswell to the Forsyth county line in particular.

A great deal of interest is being shown by the people of the county and the advisability of holding a bond election will probably come up at this meeting.

Cooper Lost by Faculty Ruling; Is Accompanied To Florida by Captain

BY JULIAN GRIFFIN

The Oglethorpe Petrels, 1924 champions of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association, and favorites in the race to retain that honor, were dealt a severe blow Sunday when it was learned that Linton Cooper, varsity tackle, and Clay Parrish, center and captain, will be lost for the remainder of the season.

Cooper was ruled ineligible by the faculty and requested to withdraw from college, it was said, for failure to keep up with his scholastic work and not attending classes. He left Sunday for Florida, accompanied by Parrish. No reason was advanced for the captain's departure.

The ruling, while not exactly unexpected, will handicap Coach Robertson and his gallant little band of warriors who have acquitted themselves so nobly in the ranks of late. Right in the middle of the season, with nothing but G. I. A. games ahead, the ranks of the sub must be searched for a center and a tackle.

Hutson, who weighs about 185 pounds and lacks the experience of the veteran Parrish, a player of much ability who has been using his 220 pounds to much advantage for the past four years and upon whom the highest honor of football has been bestowed.

A substitute for Cooper, who was also in his fourth year at Oglethorpe, will be recruited from the ranks of Goldsmith, Grimes and Cousins. Goldsmith, weight 170, will probably get the job.

Eleven Games On Schedule. The Petrels have made a fine showing this season. In their five games with Tech, Howard, Centre, Camp Benner and Wofford only the games with the Jackets and the officers of Benning were lost.

The schedule this season is one of the longest of a southern college and a hard one for a school of Oglethorpe's size. Eleven teams appear on the schedule which opened September 26 and will close with the Rollins game in Miami on December 5.

The games yet to be played will bring the Petrels in contact with Loyola, the Citadel, Presbyterian college, University of Chattanooga and Rollins.

Credit Due Robertson. Coach Harry Robertson has won a lot of praise for the way he has brought the Petrels out in the last two years in the football world. Not only the winning teams he has turned out but the scholarship players in the line will cripple the Petrels, temporarily, at least.

And when the schedule of eleven games has been completed this year, Oglethorpe may not wave the banners of champions, but it will be known that due consideration is given to the scholarship players, which, after all, is still a matter of some importance in college life.

Just Two Changes Made In '25 All-National Team

(Copyright, 1925, by North American Newspaper Alliance.) (This is the second of a series of articles giving the results of a vote by the players of the two big leagues to pick all-league teams. The all-American team was published yesterday. The selections made show many surprises in this second annual poll taken among the players. This vote was taken for The Constitution and its associated newspapers of the North American Newspaper Alliance. In daily articles on this page the vote will be analyzed.)

Compilation of the vote of National league players for the all-National league team shows that in the old major circuit only two changes were made from those of the poll taken last year. Long George Kelly, first sacker of the Giants, is dropped to the second team by the players; while Bottomley, of St. Louis, is elevated to the all-star aggregation. The second demotion by this jury is that of Young, also of the Giants, who is supplanted by Cuyler, the brilliant Pittsburgh outfielder.

Here is the all-National league team as picked for The Constitution by vote of the players of the league:

Player.	Pos.	Team.
Vance	Pitcher	Brooklyn
Hartnett	Catcher	Chicago
Bottomley	1st base	St. Louis
Hornsbey	2d base	St. Louis
Traynor	3d base	Pittsburgh
Wright	Shortstop	Pittsburgh
Wheat	1st base	New York
Roush	C. Field	Cincinnati
Cuyler	R. Field	Pittsburgh

Last year's team, Pittsburgh has two players, Brooklyn two (eliminating the extra pitcher), New York two, and three other teams one each—St. Louis, Cincinnati and Chicago. This indicated an unusually diversified representation, six of the league cities being represented on the all-league team.

This year, Pittsburgh takes the lead with three players, followed by Brooklyn and St. Louis with two each, trailed by Cincinnati and Chicago with one each. Only five cities are now represented, and Pittsburgh rises to an unquestioned supremacy in the all-league firmament.

Vance Stands Out. Arthur "Dazzy" Vance, of Brooklyn, is again the outstanding pitcher of the year, and is almost unanimously voted the twirling honors on the All-National team. Luque, of the Cincinnati Reds, is picked for the second team, and Donahue, of the same club, leads the third nine nominees.

Frankie Frisch, of the Giants, again fails to make the first team, but is voted choice guardian of the keystone sack. As in last year's balloting, Frisch received numerous votes for the positions of second, third and shortstop, indicating the confidence of his fellow ball-throwers in his all-round infield ability.

Second only to Vance in the avalanche of votes cast for one player in all-star combination, is Chicago's Ross Young, of the Giants, who can find some consolation for his drop from the premiere selections, as he was rated the best man to cover the right field sector on both the second and third teams.

Hornsbey's Choice. Rogers Hornsbey, of the Cardinals, was an easy choice for the keystone location, with his teammate, Bottomley, also making the all-star grade. In the outfield, Wheat, of Brooklyn, and Roush, of Cincinnati, were awarded the star roles for the second successive year, without question.

Looking at the result of the vote by teams, it shows Pittsburgh increasing its quota with three all-stars as against two last year. St. Louis gains a berth by the players' choice of Bottomley. Brooklyn retains her hold with Vance and Wheat, while Chicago and Cincinnati keep a foothold on the all-star stage with one each. The Giants are entirely out of the spotlight of the first pickings.

In a pinning, when a timely rain is needed to put the game on the shelf, it is Roger Hornsbey, of the Cardinals, whom the majority of the National league players dread the most, according to the separate ballots cast in answer to this question. Not all the players were agreed in this, as Bottomley also received a large number of votes as evidence of his ability to wield a wicked "ash" in a pinch.

Max Carey, of the Pirates, was voted the most dangerous man on the bases, and very little difference of opinion existed among the large majority of the voters. Cuyler and Roush drew a few votes each for this honor. Only one player regarded Frankie

Has Your Back Given Out?

DOES every little task tire you out? Do you get up lame and stiff; suffer a dull, constant backache and sharp twinges of pain—feel old and worn out at the end of each day?

Have you suspected your kidneys? Once the kidneys slow up, body impurities accumulate and upset the whole system. Too often the warning of continual backache or disturbance of the kidney secretions is ignored until serious sickness develops.

Don't risk neglect! If your kidneys need help, use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. Are recommended the world over. Ask your neighbor!

Read How These Atlanta Folks Found Relief:

E. D. PAULK, 604 Gordon St., says: "Some few years ago I used Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and kidney disorder. Headaches came on and caused me a great deal of annoyance. The kidney secretions were often highly colored and caused some distress in passage. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of the condition and I am more than glad to say a good word for them."

MRS. H. E. EUBANK, 82 Loomis Ave., says: "I caught cold and it settled in my kidneys. My back was lame and weak and when I stooped it was hard to straighten for a sharp pain cut across my back. My kidneys acted irregularly, I became nervous and irritable and I felt tired and run down. After using Doan's Pills I was cured of the attack." (Statement given January 10, 1923.) On February 5, 1925, Mrs. Eubank said: "I have used Doan's Pills again with excellent results and am glad to endorse them again."

W. T. HOSWORTH, mechanic, 192 Crew St., says: "My back felt aching and it seemed as though I was in a vise and it was pressing against my kidneys. I couldn't lift anything without getting a catch in my back. At times my kidneys acted too freely and again they were sluggish and the secretions were scanty. After using Doan's Pills from Jacobs' Pharmacy, I was cured of the attack."

JOANNA

BY H. L. GATES

SYNOPSIS.

Joanna, a modern shop girl, parentless, living alone, is summoned to the office of Graydon, owner of the department store where she is employed and given a letter addressed to her in care of the store. The letter informs her that $1,000,000 has been deposited to her account in Eggleston's bank by a benefactor who provides that his name nor his reasons for the stupendous gift shall be revealed to her. No conditions are attached to the gift, and Joanna is told that she may do with the money as she wishes. Neither Eggleston, who is a great financier, nor Graydon will advise Joanna. She meets Brandon, a nephew of Eggleston. He exerts a strange influence over her and she at times is afraid of him. He becomes devoted to her. She instinctively feels that Brandon is setting a trap of some kind for her. Joanna is a beautiful girl when she meets the suspicious of all her own crowd, the other shop girls and her friends, who will not believe that she actually received a fortune from an unknown man innocently. Desperately she turns to John, her school-day sweetheart, who is also poor, and studying to be an architect. John also is suspicious and resents her, accusing her of having fallen in love with the level of her two short skirts, her thickened lips and cigarettes.

INSTALLMENT XIII

"There is nothing to tell," she cried frantically, while her hands beat as if to drive understanding into him. "I don't know why the money was given me, nor by whom. You must believe me, John, and help me." She hurried on, catching her breath as best she could; "And I want you to share it with me, dear; it is for you as well as me. It will make everything possible for you, and you will be big and successful, and we shall be so happy together—You've lost your head, John—or you wouldn't think—"

He caught her hands and held them so tight that he hurt. But she didn't wince; just waited, her lips open, her eyes hungry, for him to speak. "I haven't lost my head, Jo!" he said. "It's you. And I was afraid. I was afraid it was coming, something like this. I knew you could never wear your skirts up to your knees, Jo, and flavor your kisses with cocktails, and be as you ought to be. You've laughed at me and called me a fool when I've told you that what you and your friends think is smart is only polished dirt. I wasn't old-fashioned, Jo; it was only that I wanted a girl to be different, and better—and safer! I could never get away with it, though—so whatever it is, it's happened, hasn't it?"

He had not raised his voice. He had kept his even tone. The sorrowful, quizzical smile remained at his lips. Joanna was helpless; every fibre of her was wounded and useless.

All that she could say was: "You really don't mean it—John! You don't think that I would—"

"Think?" he replied. "Think? Why, what I am thinking is, that even tonight, when you must have known that you would have to tell me something, some better lie than you planned, you meet me—meet me with this other man here too—in a gown like that! Moral here! True to the last to the morals of your kind, and your crowd!"

She heard her own voice, still blending with him; but it sounded as if it were coming back to her from a great distance. The horror in her eyes had spread through her body and numbed it. She laughed, and cried out that he was playing with her. Then she fell into a chair and shook it with sobs. But, so suddenly that it surprised the man who watched her, she got onto her feet and faced him. Her words were very distinct now.

"You said, awhile ago, John, that you couldn't get away with it when you wanted me to be different than I was—than my kind and my crowd. Well, there's a lot more just like you! You didn't have anything to get away with. And you're not getting away with anything now!"

She thought, secretly, that he would protest, and that after awhile he would be himself again, and take her into his arms, and ask to be forgiven, and believe and kiss. She would explain about Brandon, about Graydon and Eggleston, and he would enter into her mystery with her. But he went out of the room, slowly, put on his hat and coat, and shut the door behind him.

Joanna sank to the floor, in the midst of the pretty pieces of the alabaster box in which she had treasured the only jewel she had.

Joanna Makes a Decision.

After a time the girl, huddled on the floor in a heap of bobbed brown hair and clinging gown and silver stockings, stilled the birth of a new sob and stopped the convulsive tremble of her bare, velvet soft shoulders. Her eyes, as quick to dry as to dim with moisture, which is the way of youth, selected a spot on the parlor carpet, just beyond her toes, and fixed on it. So, she sat very quiet, and stared, straightening out the jumble of her bitter, very bitter, thoughts. She realized that she couldn't think sensibly, for the things that had happened during the hectic day were not sensible things—any of them.

It was a trait of hers to rebel when things weren't right; she could not analyze or probe for reasons, or ask herself if she were to blame. That is, she could ask if she were to blame when things got into a jumble, but her invariable answer was "No!" Time was when the spirit of Joanna was submissive and amenable to discipline, and to the learning of lessons out of experience. That was a long time ago—before she had to make her own way about and compete with other girls with the ones who were on the square, as well as those who weren't. She gradually lost her sense of submissiveness then. Whoever criticized her, except herself, was wrong. As her tongue grew smarter, more and more accustomed to giving more than it received; and her lips grew redder and more provocative, and her skirts became shorter, everybody . . .

Even John! The one thing she admittedly loved. He could never understand a girl—a real, square and above-board girl—who had to fight like the devil to keep up with the other girls of this day and age. John had objected to almost everything she did or wore or said. He'd preach by the hour. Once, in this same parlor—this dingy, frayed, heaven-will-protect-the-working-girl "drawing room only," John had brought her a lot of clippings from a newspaper. Some funny old bishop had said young women ought to wear mother Hubbard's or something like that, and somebody else so old fashioned that he read bedtime stories had told the newspapers that in his day girls didn't take an occasional drink out of their partners' flasks. Good Lord! In his day! He and Noah were so busy advertising and a flood in their young days they could not appreciate having to take a nip of something else besides water just to keep up appearances! And John couldn't understand that neither she nor any girl she knew really liked the beastly stuff, nor cigarettes. Simply had to go in for both or else go into dead storage.

John was wrong, then. Tonight, his insane suspicion of the money that had been given her for a reason she couldn't fathom, simply proved how wrong he had always been—about her. And he wasn't coming back, as she was sure that he would when he slammed the front door. Always, their quarrels had ended in a kiss and a few minutes of wonderful silence very close to each other. Tomorrow, of course, she could go to him and straighten out his mind, easily. She could even take him to Mr. Graydon, or to Eggleston, himself. Then John would be contrite, they would have their silence together, and make their plans.

That was what she could do. But this had been a deep hurt. Being so utterly unjust, the bitterness of the wound was just a bit magnified by Joanna's admission to herself that other times she hadn't had near so much right to fight back. He'd come to her, now, would John. Come with-out calling, and say "I'm sorry!"

When she had definitely sealed this bitter verdict in her rebellious mind, Joanna was conscious of Mrs. Adams, sitting on the sofa in a corner of the room. She had come in quietly and had not disturbed the reflections of the girl on the floor. Joanna smiled up at her, wanly.

"Funny, isn't it?" she said. "Everybody thinks! It seems nobody can believe anything, these days, that's good to believe. About girls, I mean. First the chauffeur. He was earnest, too, because he thought he had a perfectly ripe date with me, and deliberately crabbled it. Then Cohen, who as much as told me that furs for maids were symbols of darkness. Now John! Funny, isn't it?"

The landlady, whose kindly old face was a mirror of all her mental transformations, nodded her head.

"Yes, Jo, it's funny, but maybe it's not so funny, either. Sometimes I don't sleep nights thinking about you girls, you and Georgia and the others I've got and had. I'd try to be a mother to all of you, if you'd let me, but you never will. Georgia told me day before yesterday, or maybe it was the day before, that mothers were too old-fashioned for for up-to-date girls."

She was bothered with. She said that mothers who were any good were like flannel underwear. Wore well. I think she said, but didn't have class. "Yes, that's like Georgia," Joanna agreed, from her place on the floor. "But I don't think she's really in bad. She's in with a crowd that travels pretty fast, and she hasn't got enough sense to know when she's skidding. But you don't always have a smash when you skid, you know."

Mrs. Adams knew only vaguely what Joanna was trying to say. She'd given up, long ago, her struggles against the language of her young lady roomers. "Are you really sure, Jo," she asked her words coming slowly, "that you haven't had what you call a smash? All that money you had in your pocketbook, and you say there's more besides. You know."

Before the steady gaze of the girl on the floor, the landlady faltered. The eyes that stared at her made her uncomfortable—uneasy with her doubts. "You see, Jo," she argued, plaintive in her self-justification, "the things a girl like you talks about, and knows about, and the places you go! Georgia wears her clothes too tight and she says that's what girls are supposed to do nowadays. And you wear dresses that you ought to never cross your knees in—you oughtn't to sit down at all; it's worried me a lot. And you smoke, Jo, and I've heard you swear, too. That's why John was ready to believe—"

Bacon's Rebellion.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

Interesting Activities of the West End Woman's Club

IN THE SUMMER OF 1676 NATHANIEL BACON STRUCK A TERRIBLE BLOW AGAINST THE TRIBE OF SUSQUEHANNOCKS TO AVENGE THEIR ATTACK ON THE BORDER SETTLEMENTS. BACON THEN SET OUT TO MARCH TO JAMESTOWN TO SETTLE HIS SCORE WITH GOVERNOR BERKELEY. HEARING OF BACON'S APPROACH, BERKELEY FLED.

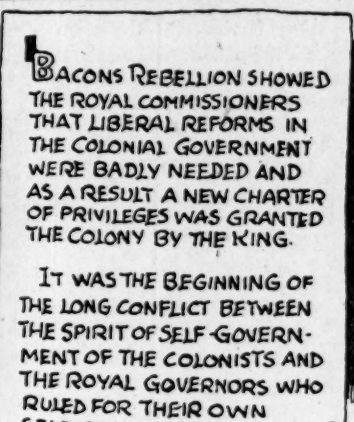

HAVING RAILED A NUMBER OF ROYALIST PLANTERS ABOUT HIM, THE GOVERNOR RETURNED TO JAMESTOWN TO FIGHT IT OUT WITH THE REBELS. WHEN THE CLASH CAME, BACON DROVE BERKELEY'S TROOPS OUT OF THE TOWN AND IN THE FRENZY OF THE MOMENT PUT JAMESTOWN TO THE TORCH.

BACON DID NOT LIVE TO CARRY ON HIS REVOLUTION. WORN OUT WITH FEVER AND THE STRAIN OF THE HARD LIFE IN THE FIELD HE DIED AND HIS MEN, WITHOUT A LEADER, SCATTERED.

BERKELEY REVENGED HIMSELF BY SENTENCING A SCORE OF BACON'S FOLLOWERS TO BE HANGED. AN OUTRAGE FOR WHICH HE WAS RECALLED TO ENGLAND BY THE KING THE FOLLOWING YEAR.

IT WAS THE BEGINNING OF THE LONG CONFLICT BETWEEN THE SPIRIT OF SELF-GOVERNMENT OF THE COLONISTS AND THE ROYAL GOVERNORS WHO RULED FOR THEIR OWN SELFISH ENDS.

Tomorrow—The American Indians

The literary department of the West End Woman's Club, Mrs. Alice Embrie Means, chairman, presiding, gave one of the most interesting and instructive programs Wednesday afternoon that have been given this year.

Dr. Meeks, of the Park Street M. E. church, delivered the invocation. Mrs. Edmund Brodgen followed with a paper on "Vikings," and Miss Griffith, Miss Young, Mrs. H. W. Wilder, Mrs. Brannon and Mrs. J. F. Lankford gave information of this religion upon the history of Europe and indirectly upon America as our first discoverers were Norsemen who made a settlement at Vinland.

Colonel John T. Boileuillet, the speaker of the afternoon, held his audience spellbound by his matchless oratory and his wonderful story of the beginning of Norse mythology, and the effect of this religion upon the history of Europe and indirectly upon America as our first discoverers were Norsemen who made a settlement at Vinland.

Colonel Boileuillet closed with a most eloquent tribute to the "Prince of Peace," and the speaker received an ovation from the large audience. Mrs. Brodgen called for a rising vote of thanks, which was given with hearty applause.

The music was in charge of Mrs. T. J. Akridge, who led the assembly in singing "America." Miss Elizabeth Holland gave two piano numbers and Cecil White and Mr. Greenberg were especially happy in Hawaiian selections. The social committee, Mrs. D. F. Dean, chairman, served refreshments.

These literary afternoons of the club are open to the public, and Mrs. DuPont Murphy, president, and Mrs. Means extend a cordial invitation to all interested to attend the next meeting, which is planned for the third Wednesday in November, when an Indian program will be given.

Under the able direction of Mrs. J. B. Withers, chairman, the child welfare committee is probably one of the most active departments in the club. Mrs. Withers reports 244 new garments made and 127 mended at the Atlanta Child's home. Members serving on the committee are: Mrs. George W. Grant, vice chairman; Mrs. Fred Stokes, Mrs. S. L. Grant, Mrs. H. W. Wilder, Mrs. Dwight Wilson, Mrs. Sam Alexander, Mrs. C. T. Kalkreuth, Mrs. Frank Stewart, Mrs. E. L. Holvin, Mrs. J. W. Hubbard, Mrs. N. A. Jesse, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Joseph Schilling, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Baker and others.

The first dance of the season given at the club Thursday evening was a lovely affair and a success in every way. These dances will be held every Thursday evening from 10 to 12 o'clock through the dance season. Admission will be by card only. Cards may be had by applying to Mrs. Frank Stewart, West 2044, or Mrs. Blair, West 2233. Chaperons for Thursday evening are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse, W. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hunt.

Mrs. Jeff Wright, chairman of the club, reports the Southeastern fair, which was $90. Mrs. Wright and her committee were given a rising vote of thanks by the club.

The Woman's Civic club of West End, Mrs. O. M. Bowling in charge, is planning a parade of beautifully decorated cars Saturday afternoon, October 31. The line is to be on Gordon street, Lucile avenue and Lee street, and all cars must be in readiness to leave the club house promptly at 3:30. Civic club signs will be placed on each car. A prize for the best decorated one will be given. The following judges have been selected: Mrs. W. W. Dingley, Mrs. J. W. Moxley and Mrs. Taylor Connally.

The purpose of the parade is to advertise the carnival which will be held on the club grounds the evening following and will be opened at 7:30 o'clock. At this carnival the K. O. X. club will stage two performances of an unusually good minstrel show in the main auditorium.

Mrs. J. B. Carter entertained the Bluebirds at her home, 185 Lawton street, Friday afternoon to plan the part to be taken in the carnival by these wee women.

The regular business meeting of the club will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, October 28. Mrs. Arthur Merrill, presiding. The executive committee will convene at 2 o'clock with Mrs. E. H. Smith, first vice president, in the chair. Important matters are to be discussed. Mrs. Hollingsworth, chairman of programs, has secured talented musicians for a 30-minute program. Arrangements for Miss Ann Bowie's class in public speaking will be discussed, and the time most convenient for it to be begun decided upon. A notice of change will be made and residents of West End and club members may register.

CHILE LABOR PARTY TO CONTEST ELECTION

Santiago, Chile, October 25.—Emiliano Figueroa has been elected president of Chile over Jose Salas, the labor candidate, by 180,000 votes to 74,000.

Labor leaders allege irregularities and have decided to call a general strike Monday in protest against the result.

Figueroa was the candidate for a coalition of all parties except the laborites.

BEAUTY CHATS BY EDNA K. FORBES.

AMATEUR MAKE-UP.

At some period in her life every girl is in an amateur theatrical performance, at least in tableaux or charades. It is most important that she should know how to make up for the stage. Light that will be focused on her, for nothing stamps a performance as "bad" so much as poorly applied make-up. The heroine usually like the villainess of a barn-storming company, the "old woman" like a caricature and the villain like a black smudge. Amateurs go mad with make-up box and spread the colors on "regardless."

Before using any make-up, spread cold cream over the skin, rub for a moment and wipe off with a piece of cheesecloth. This softens the skin and keeps the make-up from going into the pores. It also makes removal easy. Make up according to your "character."

If you want to look young and girlish, tint the cheeks lightly with rose pink. Use deep purple for an older woman and for a woman supposed to be more than 35. Deep pink but sparingly used and spread more generally over the face.

Touch the center of the lips with rosy red to emphasize them; for a grown woman, outline your lips evenly, making the color a little thicker toward the middle. Touch the chin with the color of the cheeks, but lightly, also the ear lobes, if they show. Put a dot of red at the outside corner of each eye, this makes the eyes seem larger.

Read the lines, don't outline the eyes with a line of black unless you have had years of practice. Special black stuff for beading comes in make-up boxes. Rub a little pink on the eyelids if your role is young, a little light blue if you are a grown woman. Gray is for the sunken eyes of age. Cover all the face with thick powder as a finish.

College Girl.—To treat a cold sore or fever blister, soften the lips with a cream or salve, and apply spirits of camphor.

After the blister has fully formed open carefully with a thoroughly sterilized needle, and bathe with peroxide. In many cases the camphor will dry up the blister before it amounts to much.

Protect the spot with a salve or cream until it has completely healed. A simple diet and a purgative will also help as these blisters show the digestion is upset also.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters.

Edna Kent Forbes is now ready to fill a long-felt need on the part of her readers—that of supplying the most important of her excellent beauty hints in illustrated pamphlet form. To secure this valuable information you must address Miss Forbes in care of this paper, asking for her pamphlet, "Beauty," and enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope (s.a.e.) and 10 cents in stamps.

Uncle Ray's Corner Egypt's Grain and Floods

Most of us hear and read about the pyramids and monuments of olden Egypt, and we also learn of the Great Sphinx. From this knowledge, we are likely to gain the idea that the people of that far-away time thought only about death and mighty tombs.

That was certainly not the case. The ancient Egyptians did not always think of sad and gloomy things. They lived the life of the farmer, the hunter, the sailor, the worker in metals. They feasted and made music. They played games and took part in many an outdoor sporting contest. Some of their artists drew pictures which poked fun, making the first "comics" which have ever been discovered.

Egypt was one of the earliest countries in which the people became "civilized." This means that they learned to read and write, to make tools and weapons from metal. As if these things were not enough, they discovered that the Egyptians could do these things more than six thousand years ago.

Among the pictures which have been saved for us down through the ages is one which shows men storing grain. The large doorway at the right was the entrance to the store. As if we could see right through the wall, the artist shows the high bins inside. Two men on ladders are dumping baskets of grain into holes. Each bin has a small door below, for use when the grain needed to be taken out.

The Egyptian artist went still further in his effort to give a correct idea about the granary. Up above the bins, he drew lumps to show how the grain looked when each bin was filled. The lumps over the doorway stand for a bin which was left out of the picture.

The chief grains grown in Egypt were wheat and barley. The soil was rich, and fine crops were brought forth each year. The planting was done after the Nile flood, and there ## Reception Planned At North Ave. School.

One of the interesting events of this week will be the reception given by the North Avenue Presbyterian school on Friday afternoon, October 30, from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock in honor of Mrs. W. A. Turner, of Newnan, Ga., president of the women's synodical of the Presbyterian church of Georgia, and of the other officers of the synodical. Atlanta women among the officers are Mrs. Willis M. Everett, of Westminster church; Mrs. W. R. Heston, of the Central Presbyterian church, and Mrs. Frank Smith, of the North Avenue Presbyterian church. This body will be meeting in Marietta October 29 and 30, and returning to and through Atlanta on Friday. All the Presbyterian women of the city are cordially invited to meet these church officers.

Music Club To Aid Schools In Great Symphony Program

A policy of active cooperation by the Atlanta Music club with all other interests working for the musical advancement of Atlanta was assured in a letter made public Sunday from Mrs. L. H. Hatcher, president of the club, in reply to Miss Kate Lee Haralson, supervisor of music in the Atlanta public schools, who had requested cooperation in the music memory contest in the schools.

The club, whose next concert will present the Chamber Music Society of San Francisco at the Atlanta Woman's club at 8:30 o'clock next Monday night, November 2, has asked the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, which appears under its management later in the season, to build its entire "children's matinee" program around the numbers to be used in the music memory contest in the public schools, the letter disclosed.

Purpose of Club.

"The sole object of the Atlanta Music club is the advancement of musical knowledge and appreciation in Atlanta and the south so that all our people may come to realize the enjoyment as well as the benefit of good music," Mrs. Hatcher said in her letter to the school department. "With that end in view, the club is glad not only to have the cooperation of all others working with the same purpose but also to give its cooperation in every way possible. We have asked the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra to build its matinee program in whole or in substantial part around the selections to be used in the Music Memory Contest in the schools," she disclosed. Miss Haralson's letter was as follows: Requested by Sutton. "At the request of Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, I am sending copies of the music memory contests for the fourth, fifth and sixth grades. Mr. Sutton is greatly interested in the matinee of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra that will be presented here. We hope that some of the selections can be taken from the enclosed list as we think that it would be a great privilege for the children to hear the selections well rendered."

Presentation of the San Francisco society's concert at night instead of the afternoon hour usually observed for the "Series Intime" at the Atlanta Woman's club auditorium, was pointed out Sunday as an important factor in the direction of broadening the music club's field of usefulness in Atlanta.

Heretofore the rare musical treats provided in the chamber music series have been open only to the leisure classes of the city, the afternoon hour making it impossible for business men and women to attend the concerts. The night hour, it was explained, was chosen to enable the attendance of everyone who is interested in good music.

"The Daily Newspaper gives the thought of action without stating it. The paper is published today amid a rush and hurry—tomorrow it is gone. Today's news is stale tomorrow—and, yesterday's opportunities are gone today."

"The buyer has learned to read today's newspaper to find today's buying opportunities."

"Daily newspapers are the greatest action-getting mediums on earth. When we want to sell our goods and sell now we use the daily newspapers."

NEW TRIAL DENIED IN TEACHER ATTACK

Thomasville, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—The motion for a new trial in the case of Mrs. Cora Lee Giles and her brother, McKinley Croft, of Colquitt county, who were convicted at the April term of court here of assault upon Mrs. Myers and Miss Ralston, teachers in the school at Rutin, was overruled by Judge Knight, who was holding court here.

This case was brought here from Colquitt by change of venue, and was the outcome of an alleged attack made by Mrs. Giles and her brother upon the two teachers, Mrs. Myers, principal of the school, being accused of the assault, and the other, Miss Ralston, who was holding court here.

The jury, after hearing a number of witnesses in the case, brought in a verdict of guilty, and the sentence passed by Judge Thomas gave each a fine of $500 and 12 months in the state farm for Mrs. Giles and 12 months on the farm for Croft.

The state farm and fine sentences were suspended upon payment of the fines and the defendants put on probation with the sheriff of Colquitt county in charge.

CHURCH LAUNCHES MOVE TO SUPPORT WORLD COURT PLAN

Washington, October 25.—(AP)—Launching of a determined effort to arouse "public interest in this country's acceptance of the world court" was urged in a resolution adopted last night by the National Council of Congregational Churches.

Described as a matter of "over-shadowing importance," the resolution was presented by former Governor Sweet, of Colorado, who told the delegates that Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee was determined that the world court proposal should not pass the senate, and "unless Christian men and women oppose Borah, President Coolidge will be defeated on this subject."

Astrologer Sees III in 1926 For All Excepting Coolidge

Paris, October 25.—Professor Raymond, the man who dips into the future annually to bring back predictions for a short-sighted world, has come out of his fall slumber to forecast ill for just about everyone except President Coolidge.

Rebellion among the dominions of the British empire, with mobilization of the English army and bloody conflicts ending in arbitration, which will grant autonomy to the dominions, was about the most sensational occurrence the famous professor could see for the year 1926.

Professor Raymond, a showman in legend, who claims mystic powers, is often wrong, sometimes right, and the predictions of his future are of the impending events he saw fore-shadowed during his autumnal seclusion.

America will take a more active part in European affairs in 1926 and President Coolidge, backed by high financiers, will contribute to the general increase in prosperity.

Crops will be poorer in the United States and also in France, but in Hungary, Rumania and Russia they will be excellent.

The coast of France will be harassed by tempests and a trans-Atlantic

Memphis, Tenn., October 25.—(AP)—One woman was killed and 14 persons were injured, several perhaps fatally, when a bus carrying 14 people collided with a smaller automobile on a highway near Harvard, Ark.

At a local hospital to which Van G. Flournoy, age 26, of Marked Tree, Ark., one of the injured, was brought, it was said, that he could not survive the night. His wife was killed and his young daughter, Wilma Jean, is believed to be fatally injured.

The bus, which was driven by R. G. Gardner, carried three white men and eleven negroes. Although all were suffering from bruises and shock after the bus turned over in a ditch, their injuries were not as severe as those of the occupants of the Flournoy automobile. The white passengers of the bus who were injured were: Charles Baker, of Joyner, who was killed; and Mrs. T. S. Thompson, of Blytheville, Ark.

Gardner declared that the steering gear of the bus, which was a 1924 model, was approaching from the opposite direction. The Flournoy car was demolished and its passengers rolled down the embankment at the side of the road and turned over into a ditch. Physicians from Osceola, Ark., and Marion, Ark., administered first aid to the injured. The seriously hurt being brought to Memphis hospitals.

Skylight Bandit Gang Captured Declare Police
With the arrest of three young men Sunday night detectives believe they have broken up a ring of thieves who have been operating in Atlanta within the past few weeks.

Gordon C. Billings, 17, and Walter Woodward, 17, both of 142 West Peachtree street, were arrested Sunday night on a charge of burglary by Detectives W. D. McGhee and L. H. Satterfield.

Both were given a long grilling by Captain Grover C. Edin, of the morning watch and are alleged to have admitted breaking into more than nine stores through the skylight.

Detectives have been active for some time in an effort to apprehend the burglars. Several burglaries have been reported recently in various parts of the city, where the entrance was gained by the skylight.

W. P. Garner, 25, of Fairburn, was charged with burglary and is alleged to have been implicated in numerous robberies in Atlanta of automobiles and laundry wagons. He was arrested by Detectives M. P. Warren and J. J. Chester. Following the arrest the detectives made a trip to Jonesboro and are said to have recovered $400 worth of stolen goods near there.

'American Education Week' Is Scheduled For November 16-21

Fort E. Land, state school superintendent, has sent out bulletins calling attention to "American Education Week," which will be observed from November 16 to 21. Every public elementary and high school in Georgia, numbering 1,141, will participate in the observance of this week. Superintendents of Land states.

Each of the school superintendents in the 161 counties and 100 city school systems in the state have received copies of bulletins giving essential facts concerning observance of the week, it is stated. Similar information has been sent to the 1,013 public school teachers in Georgia.

The week has been arranged for special daily observance as follows: Monday, Constitution day; Tuesday, Patriotism day; Wednesday, School and Teacher day; Thursday, Conservation and Thrift day; Friday, Know Your School day; Saturday, Community and Health day.

PRESBYTERIANS MEET TUESDAY AT PELHAM

Thomasville, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—The Southwestern Presbyterian church belongs, will meet Tuesday and Wednesday at Pelham, the opening meeting to be Tuesday night. There will be a conference of Presbyterians on Tuesday, preceding the Presbytery, at which addresses will be made by Rev. Orme Flinn, of Atlanta; Rev. J. B. Ficklen, of Decatur; Rev. L. G. Henderson, of Albany, and Dr. Wauchop, of Moultrie.

The opening sermon of the Presbytery will be preached by the retiring moderator, the Rev. Mr. Deans, of the Pelham church.

JARDINE ANXIOUS TO END ROAD FIGHT

Memphis, Tenn., October 25.—Secretary Jardine of the department of agriculture has notified Governor Austin Peay of the withdrawal of his letter of August 24, in which he stated that no other Tennessee federal aid road projects would be approved until provision was made for the Harahan bridge improvement.

The secretary, in a letter to Governor Peay, said that his action in withdrawing the previous communication was a result of the Tennessee officials might be free to consider the Harahan bridge project free from restrictions. He expressed a desire to bring the issue to a close.

J. G. Creveling, Jr., resigned as state highway commissioner recently as a result of the controversy, which had resulted in numerous conferences between Rowlett Payne, mayor of Memphis; Governor Peay and Secretary Jardine. Mr. Creveling had insisted that Tennessee federal aid funds should not be used at this time in the Harahan bridge project. It was proposed to construct a concrete viaduct to replace a wooden structure more than two miles in length, which leads to the Harahan bridge from Arkansas.

The expansion program involves an expenditure of more than $1,000,000. It was proposed that the state of Arkansas and the city of Memphis each should pay one-fourth of the total cost. Nearby Arkansas counties were to pay one-fourth and another one-fourth was to have been taken from federal highway funds allotted to Tennessee.

Washington, October 25.—Wall street and the other big business centers of the country will send their representatives to Washington Monday morning to urge Congress to abolish or reduce the federal levies now laid against them.

They will ask specifically for repeal of the broker tax and are expected to lead their support to the drive already initiated against continuance of the capital stock tax. The New York, Chicago and Baltimore stock exchanges will have representatives before the house ways and means committee to argue for the lessening or elimination of these forms of federal levy.

The committee will devote all of Monday to a hearing on the miscellaneous revenue bill, of which the administration feels can be eliminated in view of the present healthy condition of the treasury and the intention to eliminate the tax on more from the people's tax burdens.

Jewelers who put $9,000,000 into the treasury last year through tax on jewelry, also appear to ask leniency. Many additional representatives of the automobile industry, who Saturday demanded that their business share in the coming reductions, will be present.

Meanwhile, the committee has reached an impasse on the questions relating to the income and inheritance taxes, many of which threaten to be stumbling blocks, not alone to the framing of the new revenue bill, but later to its passage when it reaches the floors of the house and senate.

Abolition or reduction of the inheritance tax has presented a confusing array of advocates and opponents, the latest of which is the national industrial conference board of New York city. The board, Sunday, issued a statement concurring with those who would have the estate tax imposed solely to states. Repeal of the tax, it said, would only slightly affect the total revenue of the government in 1926 and only moderately in 1927.

The position of the conference board membership, said to comprise leading executives of all branches of industry, transportation and finance, is described as "uncompromising opposition" to the federal estate tax in principle, and ultimate, if not immediate, elimination of the tax is urged.

The board points out that in 38 states, if a resident dies leaving stock in a domestic corporation, the shares are taxed by three competing jurisdictions, the state of domicile, the state of incorporation and by the federal government. If the corporation is incorporated in more than one state, each may join in the levy. Litigation, it reports, oftentimes amounts to more than the tax itself.

MANY LIVES LOST IN CYCLONIC STORM IN PERSIAN GULF

Karachi, British India, October 25.—(AP)—Brief details of the disaster caused by a cyclonic storm in the Persian gulf confirm the early reports of great loss of life and the destruction of many small vessels.

Dispatches to the Daily Gazette say that 7,000 persons perished in the cyclone, which was accompanied by an earthquake and other disturbances. The Pearl fishing fleet was almost entirely swept out of existence, more than 200 boats being sunk. British naval vessels suffered minor damage.

The islands of Tamb and Henjam were severely shaken and many acres of date palms at Basra were devastated.

BROOKS FARMER DIES SUDDENLY OF APOPLEXY

Quitman, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—E. E. Stipes, a prominent farmer of Brooks county living three miles south of Dixie in the western part of the county, died suddenly this morning just after he had eaten breakfast. He walked from the dining room into the back yard and immediately called for help. He died before a physician from Quitman could reach him.

It is believed that death was the result of apoplexy, superinduced by acute indigestion.

He is survived by his widow and several children. Funeral arrangements have not been made, pending the arrival of his son from Atlanta.

Hardwood Firms Adopts Standard Inspection Rules

Memphis, Tenn., October 25.—(AP)—The Commercial Appeal said today that hardwood manufacturers of the country have concluded an arrangement by which for the first time in 25 years, one standard of inspection will be accepted by the entire industry. This action follows the efforts of Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, to establish a national standard for lumber.

By the terms of an understanding just reached, the paper continues, the National Hardwood Lumber association and the Hardwood Manufacturers institute will bury the hatchet and end rivalry that has existed between these organizations. The purpose of the standardization program is to conserve lumber by the elimination of waste and the reduction of unnecessary sizes and lengths.

The paper quotes Secretary Hoover as saying that it is a matter of "great significance to the industrial and commercial community of our nation when an industry which has such wide ramifications as the hardwood lumber industry unites all of its elements to undertake a job for the common good of the manufacturer, the distributor and the consumer, as well as for the conservation of our national forests."
